This company helps you make right color choice

Have you ever felt a tidal wave of indecision wash over you as you put on your make-up in front of the mirror? You know the feeling. It's the uncertain dread, wondering if the rosy-red blush will look well against your olive-colored cheeks, or if the baby-blue eyeliner will clash with your hazel brown eyes.

Cosmetic coordination is more than just an art - it's a science. A pioneer in this field in Jinger Lee Heath, Chairman of the Board of BeautiControl, America's first company to offer free color analysis and color-coded makeup in the privacy of your own home. With Jinger's extensive training in cosmetics and color analysis, the company has grown from a regional Texas business into a national corporation.

Color analysis is an exciting new process that coordinators your makeup and wardrobe with your own personal coloring to ensure that color works for you, not against you. The philosophy is that women should learn to wear colors that complement, rather than conflict, with their own natural coloring.

In the relaxed setting of an in-home clinic, each guest receives a free facial and color analysis from a trained consultant to determine a specialized program of skin care, cosmetics and wardrobe selections that can guide women toward coordinated makeup and sophisticated fashion for the rest of their lives.

With free color analysis and a personalized color code, BeautiControl guarantees that you will never again make the mistake of busy-ing cosmetics that look right in the store but are the wrong color when you get home.

After a careful analysis by the trained consultant, each woman is placed in a special grouping based on the natural coloring of the four seasons: Winter, Summer, Spring and Autumn.

According to expert Jinger Lee Heath, "Wearing the 'correct colors' can accent and highlight a woman's personal color tones so that they are harmonious. We provide the service of free color analysis to enable women to buy their cosmetics with complete color confidence."

BeautiControl offers a full line of coordinated skin care products and color-coded glamour makeup available in a seasonal palette which corresponds to the individual color groups.

For further information on how you can get a free color analysis or become a certified color consultant, call BeautiControl at (214) 458-0601.

Candidates reminded of deadline

Secretary of the Commonwealth William R. Davis today reminded candidates that January 31 is the last day to circulate and file nomination petitions for officers to be filled in the 1984 election.

Davis said candidates for the following offices are required to file nomination petitions with the State Bureau of Elections: President, Attorney General, Auditor General, State Treasurer, U.S. Congress,

State Representative, State Senator, Delegate and Alternate Delegate to the national convention and members of the State Committee.

Citizens may call (717) 787-2231 to learn who has filed their petitions in the bureau, he said.

In addition, Annual Campaign Expense Reports from candidates, committees and lobbyists for 1983 are also due Jan. 31.

Help available for gardeners

Whether you plan to call your 1984 garden a victory, hippy, inflation or whatever kind of garden, it's time to start preparing the soil.

Ask a successful gardener for his secret to success and he will tell you it is the soil. With good soil, you can grow almost anything. Without it, you can water, feed, cultivate and weed and still have little success.

Bob Nuss, Extension horticulturist at Penn State, says that soil building is the first step toward getting a "green thumb." "Soil improvement is a long-range investment," says Nuss, "so, do not do a half-way job of soil building."

The most important ingredient of good garden soil is organic matter or humus. It loosens heavy clay soils and builds up thin, sandy soils.

But it must be worked into the soil to be effective. Good soil management includes regularly adding well-rotted organic matter.

After your soil is adequately prepared, you may need help with planting dates, spacing, varieties and quality of seeds needed, kinds of fertilizers and the amounts to use. This kind of help is available from Penn State in the form of a noncredit Correspondence Course.

Written to aid both amateur and experienced gardeners who wish to update their knowledge, you can get a copy of the course by sending $6.75, including handling, to GARDENING, Dept. 5000, University PARK, Pa. 16802. Make check payable to PENN STATE.
