General Hospital Auxiliary conducting volunteer drive

Wilkes-Barre General Hospital's Woman's Auxiliary is recruiting volunteers for its Hospitality Shop.

According to Therese Karambelas, chairman of the Hospitality Shop Committee, the number of patrons in the Hospitality Shop has increased, while the number of volunteers has remained the same.

"The volunteers in the shop have been very busy lately," she says. "Many of the ladies have been volunteering at General for the past 30-35 years. These loyal women need more help."

The Hospitality Shop is managed by the Woman's Auxiliary and provides hot soups, sandwiches and beverages for employees and visitors of the hospital. It is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily. Proceeds from the Shop are donated to the hospital as one of the Auxiliary's "ways of giving."

Volunteers are needed to serve snacks and lunches and can donate as little as three hours of their time each week. "Volunteering at General," says Mrs. Karambelas, "has become a family project - everyone helps out. Everyone works together to make volunteering fun - and not like work at all."

Mrs. Karambelas offers a tip to those who have thought about volunteering: "Get a friend or two to volunteer with you on the same day. It can be your 'day of giving' each week."

For more information on becoming a volunteer, contact General Hospital's Volunteer Services Department.

Gabriel, who is currently receiving unemployment compensation while waiting a court hearing on his appeal for reinstatement, requested a clarification on the matter of his seeking employment.

"I am not hesitant to look for a new position," Gabriel said. "I have applied for other positions, but I feel prospective employers are hesitant to hire someone who is seeking reinstatement to their former position."
