Students accepted

PSU students named to 'Who's Who'

Nine students at Penn State Wilkes-Barre have been named to the 1984 edition of Who's Who Among Student in American Junior Colleges. A campus nominating committee and editors of the annual directory have selected these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Students named this year from Penn State Wilkes-Barre are: Anthony Alimenti, Kingston; Scott Crowe, Dallas; Bill Culver, Tunkhannock; Marybeth Gototweski, Shickshinny; Bruce Griffiths, Trucksville; Kimberly Herriotts, Wilkes-Barre; Joe Hulsick, Kingston; John Mazur, Plymouth; and Jody McCourt, Montgomery.

Host families needed

How would you like to "host" a rosy-cheeked European boy or girl for an academic year?

The American Scandinavian Student Exchange (A.S.S.E.) program is seeking host families, especially in the Sullivan-Luzerne county areas, for 12 teenage exchange students. The students hail from Norway, Denmark, Finland, Sweden, Great Britain, West Germany, Switzerland and Iceland. Each student is filled with the dream of an academic year in the U.S., attending a local high school and living as a member of an American family. Alma McLaughlin is the Area Representative for the A.S.S.E. program. She can be reached at 675-4308.

The exchange students will arrive in late August, attend the nearest public school to the host family and return to their countries in late June. Each student is fluent in English, has pocket money for social activities and clothing, full medical coverage and liability insurance. The host family is expected to provide room and board and perhaps a measure of love!

Kelly named to position

Dr. Regina Kelly, R.S.M., a professor of English at College Misericordia, was recently appointed Executive Director of the Mercy Higher Education Colloquium (MHEC). The appointment, effective January 1984, was announced by Dr. Theresa Antone, R.S.M., chairperson of the MHEC Executive Committee at the December meeting held in Philadelphia.

Dr. Kelly has been an active member of MHEC since its founding in 1974 and is presently serving her second term on the Executive Board. She is the first to hold the position of Executive Director. Dr. Kelly is the founder and editor of the MHEC's bi-annual newsletter, Side Issues.

As the newly established Executive Director Dr. Kelly will organize the annual conference, act as liaison with 19 Sisters of Mercy colleges, collect and maintain all MHEC records and publish the conference proceedings and newsletters.

Concurrent with Dr. Kelly's appointment, College Misericordia will become the national headquarters for the MHEC.

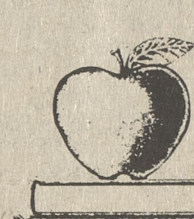

MHEC is a national organization of Religious Sisters of Mercy, comprised of more than 700 administrators and teachers in higher education, the majority associated with one of the 19 Mercy Colleges in the United States. Five Mercy College are located in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Kelly has been associated with College Misericordia for 20 years in such roles as Academic

DR. REGINA KELLY, R.S.M.

Dean from 1967 to 1971 and a professor of English in the College's Division of Humanities since 1972. She said her goal as the MHEC Executive Director will be to make the work and commitment of the Mercy Sisters better known throughout the country.
