Bonomos shine at EWLTT

By LEE L. RICHARDS
Sports Columnist

Ricky Bonomo captured the 126-pound title in the Eastern Wrestling League Tournament over the weekend, while brother Rick finished second behind Penn State's Carl DeStefanis.

Rick and Rocky were the only two Bloomsburg wrestlers to reach the finals in the toughest EWL tourney I've seen in the nine years the loop has existed.

Penn State captured its third straight title with 95.25 points and eight wrestlers reaching the finals. The Nittany Lions had only three champs.

"The reason we had only three champs is a compliment to the strength of our league overall," said Coach Rich Lorenzo. "This was the toughest two days of wrestling I've witnessed in the EWL."

Ricky was seeded second at 118 pounds, while Rocky was the No. 2 seed at 126 pounds.

Rick picked up his 21st fall of the season in the opening round to reach the semis. There he polished off Lock Haven's Ken Whitsel, 14-4. He and Whitsel wrestled to a draw in the recent dual meet. In the finals, he bowed to State's DeStefanis, 12-4. However, Rick put Carl on his back early with a throw which would have been a two-and-two move, but the ref stopped the bout because DeStefanis was injured. Carl won his third straight EWL title with quickness and more savvy than Rick has right now, being only a freshman.

"Rick is going to be a dynamite wrestler before he's finished in the EWL," Carl said afterward. "No lead is safe when you wrestle either one of the Bonomos. They're both super guys."

Meanwhile, Rocky worked his way into the finals by ripping his first opponent 36-5, which so happens to be the most points ever scored in an EWL tourney bout. In the semis, he topped Pitt's Kyle Nellis, 12-1.

Now it was the finals. Rocky was going up against Cleveland State's Dan Foldsy, who was one win away from capturing his third title. He was a freshman winner at 118, runner-up as a sophomore at 126 in 1981, red-shirted in 1982, then beat All-American Scott Lynch of Penn State last year. For his effort, Foldsy was voted the tourney's Outstanding Wrestler.

Rocky was up to the challenge. He set the tempo early by taking Foldsy down with a slick move. Foldsy escaped and took Rocky down, but Rocky got out for one and the first period ended 3-3. Foldsy had beaten Rocky in the recent dual, 6-4.
