Fathers, teachers battle on hardwood

As part of its observance of Children and Hospitals Week (March 18-24), the Mercy Hospital Wellness Center sponsored a tour of the recently opened Mercy Medical Office, Dallas, for the children's group from the Trucksville United Methodist Church. The tour was designed to introduce the children to the medical atmosphere and equipment in order to help alleviate any fears they may have regarding doctors or hospitals. The Mercy Medical Offices house the private practice of three local physicians as well as laboratory, radiology and physical therapy services. Here X-ray technician, Joann Saracino, R.T., demonstrates the x-ray process.

Carden named to position

Dr. James J. Pallante, academic dean at College Misericordia, recently announced the appointment of Mary Carden as director of the college's cooperative education program.

Founded at Misericordia in 1982, cooperative education is available to qualified students in all academic disciplines. Students earn elective credit directly applicable to their degrees while working in local businesses.

A faculty member at College Misericordia for 17 years, Mrs. Carden will be responsible for placing students in work situations and contacting prospective placement clients throughout Pennsylvania and neighboring states. Fifty Misericordia students are involved in the co-op program this year.

In 1980, Mrs. Carden was appointed director for the merchandising program at Misericordia and will continue to service in that capacity. She has been assistant professor in the division of business administration for 12 years.

A graduate of College Misericordia, Mrs. Carden received her bachelor of science degree in 1962 and earned her master of arts from New York University School of Retailing in 1970.

She is an active member of the American Association of University Professors, the American Home Economics Association, the Pennsylvania Home Economics Association and the Association of College Professors of Textiles and Clothing.

Mrs. Carden lives with her husband, Frank, and their four children in Inkerman.
