Couple discusses remodeling

What you see is what you get, may be the case in many new or remodeled kitchens or bathrooms, says Mrs. Josephine Kotch, Extension Home Economist for Luzerne County.

During a three hour class on new-remodeled kitchen or bathrooms Mr. and Mrs. David Germick discussed the important details of unseen features in installing ceramic tile for example with this type of installation, a cement surface similar to the thickness and size of underlayment must be used for the ceramic tile surface. Comparing costs and materials is very important.

The Germicks also discussed many new products for countertops, bathroom and kitchen sink fixtures, placement of windows for maximum use of kitchen design.

Swetland Homestead open to public through Labor Day

The Swetland Homestead, located on Wyoming Avenue near the Midway Shopping Center in the borough of Wyoming, is now open to the public until Labor Day. Hours of visitation will be Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 12 noon until 4 p.m.

The Homestead is one of the two oldest homes in the Wyoming Valley. It was begun in 1797 by Revolutionary War veteran, Luke Swetland and remained in the Swetland Family until 1958 when Luke's great-great-granddaughter, Mrs. Frank G. Darte, gave the house to the Wyoming Historical and Geological Society. Each of the five downstairs rooms in the Homestead is furnished in a different period style. As visitors move from the 18th century settler's cabin to the Victorian parlor, they are shown changes in lifestyles and taste for a 60-year period.

The first portion of the home, a cabin built by Luke Swetland, contained two downstairs rooms and a large loft above. Today, the cabin's original fireplace with its bake oven and furnishings reminiscent of the early period of settlement provide visitors an introduction to the history of the home.

Moving through the house guests view the dining room with its Federal period furniture illustrating the tastes and styles of the early 19th century. From the dining room one enters the front hall with its Empire furnishings depicting the accepted styles of the 1820's. The final two downstairs rooms include a bedroom and a parlor with appointments from the Victorian era of the 1860's.

The Wyoming Historical and Geological Society has maintained this historic building as a community educational resource for over 20 years. In addition to summer visitation hours, the Homestead is open to area elementary schools for class tours in the spring and fall.

Admission to the home is $1.00 for adults, $.50 for children 5-16, and no charge for children under 5.

The Wyoming Historical and Geological Society is a non-profit community organization dedicated to preserving and interpreting the history of Luzerne County.
