Programs

THE SCIENCE TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM (STEP) at Wilkes College can still accept applications from 11 area teachers who are interested in taking courses. The announcement was made by Dr. Joseph Bellucci, professor of education at Wilkes and director of the STEP program there.

The program is funded by the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency, (PHEAA) and is designed as a science and mathematics education-improvement program to help elementary and secondary teachers improve their science and math teaching skills. Teachers who are accepted into the program will have their tuition paid by PHEAA. They will, in addition, receive a stipend to defray the cost of travel to the STEP site, at Wilkes College.

The courses are offered during the summer and fall of 1984, and the spring and summer of 1985. Most summer courses will be offered as workshops. Fall and spring courses will be offered during evenings and some may include Saturday sessions.

Dr. Bellucci urges those who are interested to contact the Wilkes College Education Office, at 824-4651, ext. 435, as soon as possible for summer registration. Toll free numbers are 1-800-572-4444 in Pa., and 1-800-537-4444 from outside Pa.

Exhibits

THE WILKES COLLEGE SORDONI ART GALLERY opened the exhibition, "The Big Picture: Ultra Large Instant Images," recently. The show will be in the Gallery until June 20, from 1 to 5 p.m. and will be open to the public at no charge.

The exhibition consists of the works of 19 artists highlighted in the instant large-format process of Polaroid 20x24 inch photographs.

Sordoni Gallery hours are, Sunday through Friday, 1-5 p.m., Saturday, 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and on Thursday evening until 9 p.m.

WHAT IS MANAGEMENT? What is the role of a manager in business? What does a manager do? Why do we have managers? And when is a manager judged to have done a good job?

These are only a few of the questions which will be explored in the telecourse, "The Business of Management," which will be offered for three college credits by Luzerne County Community College, in conjunction with WVIA-TV, Channel 44; beginning Friday, June 15.

For enrollment information on the telecourse, call the TeleCollege Hotline at Luzerne County Community College, 829-7423. Registration at the main campus will be held on Wednesday, June 6.

THE OFFICE OF CONTINUING EDUCATION at Luzerne County Community College will offer a course in Basic Carburetion beginning Tuesday, June 12, at the college's main campus in Nanticoke.

The course, which will meet on Tuesdays, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., through July 17, is designed to familiarize today's mechanics with the fundamentals of carburetion. The class will not meet on July 3.

Students will also learn the basic concepts of carburetor rebuilding and use of the oscilloscope and emission analyzer for diagnostic trouble shooting of carburetion problems. Carburetion systems affecting cold driveability, warm driveability, power loss and driveability problems affecting computer command control carburetors will be reviewed.

This course is a prerequisite for future seminars to be offered in computer command control, fuel injection and emission control systems.

In addition to a variety of seminars and short courses that keep automechanics up-to-date on new ideas and trends in the auto industry, LCCC also offers a well-established Automotive Technology program of study.

For further information on the Basic Carburetion course, or to register to attend, contact Robert Kohnath at Luzerne County Community College, 829-7383.

"FOCUS ON SOCIETY," a three-credit college telecourse that make-use of a unique blend of filmed interviews and on-location filming, will be offered during the summer session at Luzerne County Community College and will be broadcast on Channel 44 beginning Tuesday, June 12, from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

For further information on the telecourse, or to enroll in the course, contact the TeleCollege Hotline at Luzerne County Community College.

THE WYOMING VALLEY CHAPTER, American Red Cross has scheduled two daytime courses for June.

A CPR Module class will meet on Tuesdays, June 12 and 19 from 9 a.m. to noon. A Multimedia First Aid course will be held on Fridays, June 15 and 22, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Both courses will meet at the Chapter House and registration is limited.

To register call Safety Services at 823-7161. A nominal fee is charged to cover the cost.

Misericordia will offer institute on computers

As microcomputers continue to invade the business world, homes and classrooms, College Misericordia is developing educational programs to prepare the community for living and working in a computer oriented society. The programs offer teachers, administrators, business people, personal computer owners, and students up-to-date technology in the computer field.

A three-day institute on "Computers in Catholic Education," will be held June 18 to 20 at Misericordia. The program, beginning at 8:30 a.m. each day, is designed to instruct pre-college educators and administrators in implementing and then teaching computer programs in their schools.

Brother Neal Golden, J.C., Ph.D., Department Chairman of Mathematics and Computer Science at Brother Martin High School in New Orleans, and Peter Kendzor, educator and computer specialist are the principal speakers for the institute.

Educators from elementary and secondary schools of the Diocese of Scranton, as well as other school systems will participate in the program which has been approved through the Luzerne Intermediate Unit for in-service credit.

Radio Shack and Computer Land of Wilkes-Barre will supply TRS-80 and APPLE microcomputers respectively to support Peter Kendzor's classroom demonstrations.

ENTRE Computer Center, Wilkes-Barre, is providing the principal public sector support to the program by establishing an additional micro-computer laboratory for training of the institute's participants. Staff members from ENTRE will assist in developing hands-on abilities, exhibit materials and demonstrate the unique and exciting capabilities for the "turtle."

During the same time frame, educators from College Misericordia's Department of Education will visit schools in the Scranton Diocese to assess and make recommendations for further implementation of computer science programs in those schools.

Other areas of the computer trend addressed by Misericordia are computer workshops and camps geared for kindergarten through 12th grade students, and adult microcomputer courses offered to the community throughout the year. New to this year's college curriculum is a credit-bearing elective course designed for educators to learn how to use computers in special education. The course, entitled "Exceptional Children: Computer Assisted Instruction," was coordinated by Dr. Molly Vitale, assistant professor in Misericordia's Division of Education.

College Misericordia also provides for its students a highly sophisticated four-year computer science curriculum. Kathleen Hoffman, consultant, teacher and author joined Misericordia's faculty recently. She has joined Ben Ortega, Academic Systems Coordinator; Sr. Miriam Teresa O'Donnell, RSM, professor; Sr. Agnes Brennan, RSM, assistant professor; and Dr. Joseph Tomasovic, associate professor and director of the computer science program in the College's division of Natural Sciences and Mathematics.
