Hughes honored

J.F. Fagan, supervisor of Northeastern Division, Pennsylvania Game Commission, recently presented Dallas High School ecology instructor Wayne Hughes with a painting of the North American bluebird in recognition of the bluebird house project completed by Hughes' ecology class. Honored with Hughes were students who cut most of the wood to propsize and Gary Mathers, industrial arts instructor at the high school. Shown here during the presentation to the painting are, from left, Jerry Hoover, junior; Mathers, Hughes, Fagan and Dan Stofila, senior.

Completes training

Pvt. Glenn J. Godleski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Godleski of 124 Lower Demunds Road, Dallas, has completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is a 1982 graduate of West Side Area Vocational Technical High School, Pringle.

ECIA held observation day recently

The Lake-Lehman E.C.I.A. Chapter I reading and math classes held a successful classroom observation day recently.

The purpose of the day is for parents to visit their children's rooms and to observe the materials and activities used throughout the year.

This year, the parents were able to see the new Apple II computers that were recently purchased for the program.

The Parent Advisory Council served as guides and provided refreshments to the attending parents.

Walter Sowa recognized

Walter Sowa, professor of general engineering at the Penn State Wilkes-Barre Campus is one of four Penn State College of Engineering faculty members to receive awards for outstanding advising. Each recipient received $500 and a certificate of recognition.

A member of the Wilkes-Barre faculty since 1956, Professor Sowa has advised 293 students over the past five years. He also is counselor for pre-engineering students. His heavy advising loads have often been the result of students specifically requesting him as an adviser.

A former student said that Mr. Sowa's "advising goes far beyond deciding what courses to take and how many credits to carry." He also has been cited for being "extraordinarily good with older and returning students." A graduate of Penn State, he earned his master's degree from Wilkes College.
