Cars to have full-sized spares

All new cars sold in Pennsylvania would be required to come equipped with a full-size spare tire under legislation cosponsored in the House by Rep. George C. Hasay.

The 117th District lawmaker said the measure would apply to cars manufactured after 1986.

"Most American-made cars now come equipped with small spare tires that are intended to be used in an emergency situation," Hasay said. "These small spares can be driven only a certain number of miles at very low speeds.

"As a result, an individual can easily find himself in an emergency situation late at night, on a weekend or holiday in which it's nearly impossible to find a service station open that repairs flats," Hasay said.

However, Hasay said most foreign car manufacturers continue to equip their cars with full-size spares.

convertible cars desigated the Little Miss Harveys Lake Court: Jennifer Reno, 1983 Little Miss Harveys Lake; Heather Whipple, the new Little Miss Harveys Lake, and the Queen's Court.

Antique cars of all types, shapes, and sizes cruised in the parade, as well as more modern dune buggy vehicles. The Irem Temple Transportation Unit float couldn't be missed with its huge replica of a Shriner's hat. The Irem Temple Motor Corps and fire truck followed close behind.

The boat section of the parade was colorfully accompanied by a gorilla, Big Bird, Mickey Mouse, the Pink Panther, Miss Piggy and the Smurfs, all members of the Harveys Lake Knite Skiers.

The "Boy Scouts Love America" float was complete with camping tents, which the boys made good use of in the rain. A Coca Cola truck and miniature cars driven by clowns preceded the fire truck section.

Fire engines and ambulances from Kunkle, Jonathan R. Davis, and the Daniel C. Roberts Fire and Ambulance Companies made the parade complete, blowing their sirens and whistles.

Firemen came prepared for the rainy weather, as they rode in the back of the trucks, donned in their long rubber firemen's coats and hard helmets.

Bringing up the rear of the parade was a special float prepared by the Harveys Lake Rod and Gun Club, entitled "Wildlife in Pennsylvania." The float featured animals such as deer, bear and turkeys, stuffed and mounted in lifelike form.

After the kids collected gum, candy and lollipops thrown from the floats, the spectators scampered back into their houses and cars as fast as they came out.

But not for long. At 3 p.m. people once again braved the weather and gathered at the Grotto Marina for the Awards Ceremony. The winners of the Amateur Fishing Contest were presented with trophies and applause. The winner for the age 11-and-under category was Don Pugh with his 1-pound, 2-ounce largemouth. Second prize was awarded to Becky Roan for her 8-pound, 15-ounce cooler of bluegills. Third place went to Patricia Smith for her 7½-ounce perch.

The 12-to-15 age bracket winner was Marla Trapani for her 1-pound, 11-ounce catch of bluegills. The largest fish award was given to Don Pugh. The winners of the Vehicular Parade awards were also presented with trophies. The best boat and trailer prize went to the Harveys Lake Knite Skiers. Winner for the best club category was the Irem Temple Dune Buggy. The best business float was awarded to Martin's, with the Harveys Lake Rod and Gun Club claiming the prize for the most original float. Kunkle Fire Department won the award for the best fire apparatus. Chairman of the Awards Program was Gerry Finerty.

Also at the Grotto Marina was the Pennsylvania Fish Commission's Boating Safety van. Safety specialist Janet Mayer was on hand to give people tips on boating safety methods.

The purpose of the program, said Mayer, is to "educate boaters to use safer practices in boating." According to Mayer, there are approximately 30 fatalities due to boating accidents per year in Pennsylvania. In order to reduce the number of fatalities Mayer stresses the importance of the use of personal flotation devices, such as lifejackets.

"There's something for everyone — from infants up," said Mayer, pointing to the display of personal flotation devices hanging on the doors of the Boating Safety Van. Also displayed were camouflage vests and lifejackets for the winter hunter.

One program in the Festival which could not be hurt by the rainy weather was the Indoor Exhibits held in the Harveys Lake Municipal Building. An art show, put together by local photographer Glenn Bodish, featured beautiful paintings, sketches and photographs for sale. Done by local artists, the works were comprised of both wildlife scenes and still lifes.

Said Bodish, "It's a very good show. The people who didn't come don't know what they missed." Although not as many viewers came as expected, Bodish was optimistic: "If only one person passes the word...there will be even more people next year. The toughest thing for artists is to find a place to display their work." Now the artists are interested in having another show after the Festival, according to Bodish.

The free Indoor Exhibit also featured the Harveys Lake Rod and Gun Club Fish and Game display, as well as the Harveys Lake Bassmasters Fish and Trophy display.

The Skydivers Air Show and the Fireworks Display had to be postponed due to the inclement weather. However, the Ripcords from Hazleton have been rescheduled to "drop in" at Hanson's Park on July 8.

Davies appointed chairman

Patricia S. Davies, Dllas, has been appointed the first woman to chair the Wilkes College Board of Trustees in the College's 50-year history.

Mrs. Davies was elected to the office by her colleagues on the board, at the final meeting for the academic year, held in late May.

Mrs. Davies, a native of Wisconsin, has been a resident of Wyoming Valley since 1949, making it her home since her marriage to Stanley Davies, president of Royer Foundry and Machine Co.

A graduate of Milwaukee-Downer Seminary in Wisconsin, Mrs. Davies continued her education at Wellesley College, where she earned the B.A. Phi Beta Kappa, in 1946.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Davies was an administrative assistant with the Economic Cooperation Administration, of the United States government (The Marshall Plan) in Paris, France, in 1948 and 1949. Prior to that, she was a member of the Editorial Staff for SCHOLASTIC MAGAZINE, in New York in 1946 and 1947.

so that an older child, say around four years old, can't get out of them. They don't need a law. I guess someone could hold the kid just as easily."

Pat Higgins, Safety Director for the Valley Automobile Club, pointed out why holding the child is not a good idea.

"Many people believe that holding a child in their lap is adequate protection. If you're not in a safety belt and are holding a child, in an accident you run the risk of pushing that child into the windshield or dash with the force of your body's reaction to the crash. If you can't hold yourself in place in an accident there is no way you can expect to keep your child safe.

"In fact, fewer than 10 percent of parents will take the time to protect themselves or their children," added Higgins. "By using a well-made infant carrier, car seat or harness belt, the chances for a child to survive any serious injury are improved by 70 percent."

Any person interested in borrowing a test-proved infant auto safety seat may do so at the AAA office, 100 Hazle Street, Wilkes-Barre, by showing their driver's license, auto registration card and insurance card. A deposit of $25 will be accepted and refunded upon the return of the seat in good condition.

The seats available are for infants from birth to nine months or 20 pounds.

School's out — watch out!

High spirits, freedom from school work and anticipation of summer fun make youngsters especially vulnerable to accidents when schools close.

Thus, The Valley Auto Club urges drivers to use extra caution as small pedestrians will soon be taking to the streets for fun and games. Unfortunately, safety rules are often the farthest things from the minds of young scholars on vacation.

Mishaps can occur in a split second as children scurry from behind parked cars, dart across streets in pursuit of adventure or take to playing games in or near the streets. A rolling ball may have a prospective athlete in pursuit, and should be a warning to motorists.

Crossing guards and safety patrols will be on vacation, too, and busy intersections will be left unsupervised for the summer. So, it's up to drivers to be alert for youngsters enjoying the warm weather.

AAA's slogan, "School's Out — Watch Out!" is especially important for drivers to bear in mind in areas where they are likely to encounter children at play this summer.

Those areas include recreational sites (such as pools, tennis courts and playgrounds), urban residential

Building permits now required

Kingston Township residents are reminded that Building Permits are required for the following: Additions, garages, moving or tearing down buildings, sheds, roofing, siding, converting homes to apartments, patios, roofing over or closing patios, chimneys, porches, closing in porches, commercial buildings, swimming pools, driveways and new businesses.

For new home construction, building permits are required, please contact Mr. Dana for building and inspection fees for new home construction.

Permits for all pools 18 inches or more in depth will cost $20, permits for driveways will cost $5, permits for new businesses will cost $20, other building permits are based on $2 per $1,000 of construction costs.

Permits may be obtained at the Township office from Zoning Officer, John Dana, Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. or by appointment.

Lake roads to be repaired

In response to several concerns of Harveys Lake Borough Council, state Senator Frank J. O'Connell (R-Kingston) is pleased to announce that the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation will soon improve conditions on area roads.

O'Connell said he is pleased with PennDOT's plans to resurface Lakeside Drive this summer. Scheduled work will begin after July 1.

O'Connell said the drainage problem on LR 4015 will be corrected with the installation of a six inch drain to collect excess water.

On the same road near the elementary school, bump signs will be installed as soon as they are available to PennDOT. Last year O'Connell was instrumental in having PennDOT install speed breakers near the school so as to protect the lives of children.

Meanwhile, the bridge at Sunset is programmed for repairs during the Fiscal Year 1986-87. The extent of the repairs has yet been determined but will be under design within a year.

The inlet andgrate at Pole 156 will be repaired during the summer, O'Connell also noted.

areas where a lack of such facilities encourages play in the streets and suburban residential areas where curves and driveways can create blind spots for drivers.

Motorists should be extra careful when backing out of a driveway, no matter what time of day. Stop and look both ways before entering the traffic flow. A skater, bicyclist or young pedestrian may be hidden from view.

Drivers should be especially cautious from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. when children are entering and leaving play areas during lunch periods, and from 6 to 9 p.m. when dusk effects vision.

AAA also urges parents to instruct their children in pedestrian safety, emphasizing the importance of playing only in supervised areas. Children should be instructed to cross streets only at corners after looking carefully both ways for oncoming cars and to proceed across the street at a walk, not a run.

Remember, it's up to drivers to be alert for youngsters enjoying this warm weather. With responsible action on the part of parents, drivers and youngsters, this can be a safe summer for the nation's youth.
