Women honored

Women receive Maslow Award

Deane Berger, Shavertown, and Edith Pillarella, Dallas, were recently presented the Frances and Louise Maslow Award. Dr. Wallace F. Stettler, president of Wyoming Seminary, presented this award in ceremonies held at the Forty Fort campus.

This award is annually presented to a member of the Wyoming Seminary faculty who has demonstrated effective teaching, support of the program and ideals of the school, or who has had a positive influence on the life of the students.

For the first time in its five year history there were co-recipients of the award. Mrs. Berger, who has been with Wyoming Seminary since 1965, taught English and Mathematics; while Mrs. Pillarella's association with the school began in 1961 as the school librarian and later the nursery school and kindergarten instructor.

Mrs. Berger and Mrs. Pillarella, who have recently announced their retirement from Wyoming Seminary Lower School, were elected emeritus members of the faculty, by the school's board of trustees at the spring meeting.

Orientation held

Over 200 girls who will be volunteers at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital this summer recently attended the hospital's Junior Volunteer Orientation. The orientation program familiarized the 230 new candy strippers with their volunteer duties and with important hospital procedures. All have volunteered to assist various hospital departments during the summer months. Pictured above are pink lady volunteers selling uniforms to the new candy strippers. From left, Peg McCormack, Ashley, Mary Bigelow, Forty Fort; Roseanna Foote, Forty Fort; Dorcas Ramsay, Wilkes-Barre; Promise Smith, Wilkes-Barre; Lisa Main, Forty Fort; Cathy Horchos, volunteer pink lady, Pittston; Marcella Bove, Dallas; Lina Serpico, first vice president of Auxiliary, Trucksville.

Rev. Santos appointed at Shavertown

The Rev. Harriet C. Santos, currently pastor of the Huntsville United Methodist Church, has also been appointed to be Associate Pastor of the Shavertown United Methodist Church by Bishop John B. Warman of the Harrisburg Area. Her appointment is effective July 1, at which time she will be installed in that position in the 10 a.m. Worship Service and be welcomed at a reception in the Social Hall following the Service, according to Everell Chadwick, chairperson of the Pastor-Parish Relations Committee.

Pastor Santos is a graduate of Miami University in Ohio, B.A. degree cum laude, received a Master's degree in Religious Education cum laude from Garrett Theological Seminary of Evanston, Illinois, and the Master of Divinity degree magna cum laude at Drew University, Madison, New Jersey.

She has served in various parishes as a certified Director of Christian Education and has been at the Huntsville United Methodist Church since 1981. She was ordained a Deacon in 1981. She completed a Clinical Pastoral Education course at NPW Hospital in April, serving as an assistant chaplain in that institution during that eight month program.

Pastor Santos is a professional singer having been a soloist at Temple B'nai Brith in Kingston, since 1973. She is a soloist and Board member for the Wyoming Valley Oratorio Society and a past president of the Mozart Club of Wyoming Valley.

Her husband, Rosendo Santos, is a music professor at Wilkes College. They have three sons, Erik, Nathan and Jason, who are also musicians.

Pastor Santos will work with Rev. James A. Wert, Senior Pastor, and will be involved in various phases of pastoral ministry for the parish on a part-time basis.

Members welcomed

Wilkes-Barre General Hospital's Auxiliary recently held its annual luncheon meeting to welcome new members. Also discussed were numerous by-law changes. General's Auxiliary holds major fund-raising activities and donates the proceeds to the hospital for the purchase of new medical equipment. The Auxiliary's most recently completed project, a five-year, $685,000 pledge, helped the hospital in acquiring a third linear accelerator for its Radiation Oncology Department. Close to 400 men and women are members of General Hospital's Auxiliary, and new members are welcome. Mrs. Stanley B. Ushinski is president. New Auxiliary members who were welcomed during the luncheon meeting are shown here. From left, seated, Clare M. Gawat, West Nanticoke; Naomi Austin, Forty Fort; Deborah Dobbs, membership chairman, Shavertown; Faye Silverstein, Kingston. Standing, Ira Epstein, Wilkes-Barre; Mrs. Walter Mohr, Dallas; Mrs. George McCutcheon, Dallas; Dorothy S. Moran, Wilkes-Barre; Minnie DeMartini, Exeter; Imogene Dente, Pittston.
