Programs

THE OFFICE OF CONTINUING EDUCATION at Luzerne County Community College will be offering two programs designed to meet the rising demand for Intermediate Grade remediation.

Remedial Reading Instruction for Intermediate Grades will be offered Mondays and Wednesdays, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m., beginning July 23 through August 15. This program is designed for the intermediate grade school child experiencing difficulty in reading. Other areas of the Language Arts will be included in the course, and emphasis will be on individualized instruction, skill building and maintenance of skills.

Enrichment Activities for Intermediate Grades will be offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m., beginning July 17 through August 9. This program is designed for children in the intermediate grades whose reading achievements are above grade level. Emphasis will be on reading rate and comprehension with inclusion of other language arts. This course is not intended for the poor reader.

For further information on the two programs, or to register to attend, contact the Office of Continuing Education at Luzerne County Community College, 829-7477 or 829-7483.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS, Learn to Swim program is off to a great start. The Learn to Swim Program is for children 3 years old to 16 years old and is held at different area lakes and pools.

Pre-registration has been held at all of the areas, however, a few spaces are available. Anyone interested in registration for the classes can call the Safety Services office at 823-7161. An $8.00 fee will be charged for each person.

Listed below are areas with openings:

Stahl's Pool - Centermoreland, July 23-27 (1:30-4).

Warden Place - Harveys Lake, July 30 - Aug. 3.

North Lake, Sweet Valley, Aug. 13-17, (1:30-4).

TODAY'S FAMILY FACES more stress than ever. Although services offer help to families with severe problems, little attention is given to the flip side of stress-strength.

But making strong families stronger is the goal of "Family Time," a new family activity program from Penn State's 4-H and family living extension and the Luzerne County Cooperative Extension Service. "Family Time," designed for families with children two through eight years old, will offer three areas of family-strengthening activities, says Luzerne County 4-H agent, Holly L. Ostlund.

Learning kits will be given to all participating families for home use. The kits include "Let's Explore...Our Family," "...Our Community," "...The Foods We Eat," "...The World of Crafts," and "...Other Fun Things." Kits focus on the seasons of the year and are geared 2-3, 4-6, and 7-8.

In addition, a read aloud program featuring selected books and accompanied by activity sheets with "some things to think about," "some things to talk about," and "some things to do," is available. The books can be borrowed from the county extension office.

Boxes filled with family learning activities—including sandpaper alphabet, number and shape cards, puppets, counting games, dress-up clothes, and a lacing boot—will also be available on loan from the county office.

All children who participate in "Family Time" will be designated associate 4-H members, and their parents will be given 4-H leader status. There is no charge for the program.

To get involved in "Family Time," write or call the Penn State Cooperative Extension Service of Luzerne County, Courthouse Annex, 5 Water St., Wilkes-Barre, Pa. 18711, 825-1701 or 459-0736, ext. 701.

MRS. JOSEPHINE KOTCH, Extension Home Economist for Luzerne County will demonstrate the right way to can jellies, jams, preserves and fruit pie filling on Tuesday, July 24, 7 p.m. at the Extension Office Meeting Room, 5 Water Street, Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. Kotch will prepare for the audience, jams and jellies with reduced sugar, discuss methods of preservation to prevent spoilage and types of containers to maintain maximum quality while on the storage shelf.

A main feature will be a preparation of apple pie filling. Many homemakers preserve a large quantity of applesauce, or freeze apples for pies and other desserts, says Mrs. Kotch "putting up" apples or other fruit fillings can save some dollars and provide a family with a delicious complete "home baked" dessert.

Mrs. Kotch will also provide a question and answer period for general food preservation information.

Reservations are requested. Write or call before July 20, Pennsylvania State University Cooperative Extension Service, Courthouse Annex, 5 Water Street, Wilkes-Barre, PA 18711; call 825-1701 or 459-0736 (Hazleton area).

Alzheimer's disease is topic of discussion

Alzheimer's disease and related disorders is the topic of the seventh annual Aging Religious Institute currently underway at College Misericordia.

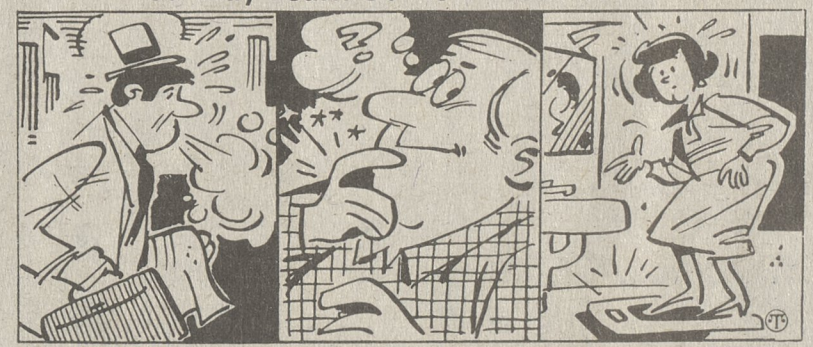

Aging Religious is a five-day workshop designed for brothers, priests, sisters and laity working in retirement homes or programs for the aging in religious communities.

Speakers for the workshop include: Margart Morschek, coordinator of the Greater Philadelphia Chapter of Alzheimer's Disease, who will present an overview of the unique questions related to Alzheimer's disease; Dr. Jeff Fremont, consultant to personnel who work with Alzheimer's disease, will speak on "Alzheimer's Disease: Manifestations and Care of Alzheimer patients"; Dr. Mary Denny, consultant to the staff at Mercy Hospital, Scranton, will lecture on the spiritual needs of Alzheimer's patients; Sister Siena Finley, RSM, chairperson of the Division of Religious Studies and Philosophy at Misericordia, will discuss ethical issues related to care of Alzheimer's patients; and Sister Jayne Pruit, RSM, Administrator of Lutheran Welfare Service of Northeastern Pennsylvania, will focus on the needs of those caring for patients with Alzheimer's disease.

The annual workshop is sponsored by College Misericordia's Institute of Gerontology and is the only program dealing with the health care of aging members of the religious community in existence in the United States. Over 70 participants from across the country will attend.
