Services offered

Complete radiologic services are currently being offered at the Rural Health Corporation's health centers in Noxen and Exeter Townships in conjunction with the radiology department at Nesbitt Memorial Hospital. Introduced in September under the direction of Frank Jones, director of radiology services, Nesbitt Memorial Hospital, radiologic technologists now provide x-ray services to patients at the Monroe-Noxen Health Center and the Exeter Township Health Center. Shown here are, from left, standing, Pamela Cavany, medical secretary; Kathryn Liety, R.N.; Cheryl Holmgren, medical receptionist; Sandra Swingle, R.N.; Dr. Gary M. Smith, medical director, Monroe-Noxen Health Center; Diane Shinal, R.N., professional services representative, Nesbitt Memorial Hospital; and Frank Jones, director radiology services, Nesbitt Memorial Hospital.

DALLAS SENIOR CITIZENS CENTER NEWS

Division of Luzerne/Wyoming Counties Bureau for the Aging

THIS COLUMN TODAY WILL BE DEDICATED to those people who are responsible for day-to-day operation of the Dallas Senior Citizens' Center. I have asked them to put in a few words, their thoughts and aims for the coming months:

JANE HADY, DIRECTOR:
"I'd like to welcome all the people who have come back to the Dallas Senior Citizens Center since I've become director.

"It sure is a joy to see old acquaintances and make new ones. My new job is to enlarge the membership and have an enlarged and enjoyable ongoing program, including arts, crafts, needlework, stenciling, candlemaking, shuffleboard, pool, pinochle, exercise, nutritious programs and various information speakers.

All seniors are welcome."
MARY VONDERHEID, ASSISTANT DIRECTOR:

"I am happy to be elevated to Assistant Director of the Dallas Senior Citizens' Center. I will be happy to welcome your telephone calls, asking questions and any information or direction to our center.

"You will hear my cheerful voice asking, 'May I take your reservation for lunch tomorrow?'"

"Please grace us with your presence and visit us shortly."

FLORENCE OWENS, NUTRITION AIDE:

"I am Florence Owens, your new nutrition aide. I would like to express my appreciation to the people who welcome me into Dallas Center. It will take me time to get to know you all.

"Feel free to stop and ask me about your food and nutrition."

THE CREAM OF THE CROP of the Back Mountain area's cooks will be gathered at the Dallas Center to sell their wares on Thursday, Dec. 6 when a bake sale is conducted from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

A CHRISTMAS BOUTIQUE will also be held. Come by and buy the beautiful handmade gifts that will be on display or the cakes, cookies and rolls that will be sold.

THE SENIOR CITIZENS CHORAL GROUP will perform on Thursday, Dec. 13 at 11 a.m. at the center.

BOWLING WILL BE HELD on Mondays and Thursdays at 9:30 a.m., the "Trim-A-Tree Party" will be held on Thursday, Dec. 6.
