Lady Mountaineers win Blue Ridge event

Karen Vloedman scored 11 points to lead the Dallas Mountaineers to a 41-20 win over Blue Ridge to finish third in the Kiwanis Invitational Tournament at Tunkhannock, Tuesday, Dec. 10.

The Montrose Meteors took the championship by downing Host team Tunkhannock 48-40.

Dallas played without high scorer Cheryl Gavigan, who has been sidelined with an injury. S. Cook had 10 points for the Mountaineers, tossing in three from the floor and putting in four for five from the free stripe.

Vloedman put in five from the court and dumped in one for four from the foul line.

Vloedman was named to the All-Tourney team with Gurn and Blachek of Montrose and McCain and Hallock of Tunkhannock.

In a pre-season game with Nanticoke, Wednesday, Dec. 12, Dallas was defeated 68-40 by the Nanticoke Trojans.

With only three minutes on the clock in the third period, both teams were tied at 37 but the Trojan girls had a big 22 point fourth quarter while holding the Mountaineers to only three points.

Nanticoke's Francine Greco led the Trojan offense with 26 points, 19 of them in the second half. Tori Zubritski helped the strong Trojan offense with 16 points.

Vloedman paced the Mountaineers with 14 points followed by Kim Rollman with nine.

The Dallas girls were cold on the foul line hitting only eight for 28 from the free stripe.

The Dallas girls were scheduled to play Benton at home Monday, Dec. 17, and open the season with Meyers away, Dec. 18.

Lehman girls capture Yozwiak Tournament

Coach Joe Martini's Lake-Lehman girls basketball team copped its second consecutive Joseph Yozwiak Memorial Tournament last week by defeating Bishop O'Reilly, 37-34, at the Queenswomen's gym.

The O'Reilly girls were behind 31-25 after the third quarter, but when the Lady Knights were unable to score during the next five minutes, the closest O'Reilly girls could come was within one point.

With the Knights leading 33-32, Pam Solinski gave her team a three point lead and her teammate Sandy Diction added two good free shots to put the win on ice in the closing seconds just before Queenswoman Gino Bayo put in one from the court.

The Knights were in front 7-6 at the end of the first period but teams went into the lockerroom at halftime with the score tied at 21-21. Pam Solinski put in four of the Knights 10 points in the third period to give her team a six point lead over their opponents.

Dallas splits

Coach Clarence Ozgo's Dallas Mountaineers edged by Valley West 54-53 Tuesday, Dec. 11, then fell to a strong Bishop Hoban team, 56-42, Thursday, Dec. 13.

Despite losing to the Argents, Coach Ozgo was pleased with the way his boys played when the score got out of hand. He said he is looking for better performance in the team's inside game and overall improvement in all phases.

In the opening minutes of the game, the young Mountaineers stayed with the more experienced Argents but Hoban's power proved too much for the less experienced Mountaineers.

Dallas continued to play hard but were unable to cope with the Argents, balanced scoring. Hoban had three men in the double figures, Kevin Merges with 13, Steve Cook 12, and Bill Desciak 10.

The Argents led the Mountaineers 13-8 at the end of the first quarter and went into the lockerroom at halftime with a 27-17 lead. They used a steady, balanced scoring attack in the second half to pull ahead to their 56-42 win.

Steve Wilson had 11 points for the Mountaineers followed by Joe Darling with nine and Tim Moyer and Mark Farrell with eight points each.

Earlier in the week, Dallas was behind 27-22 in the Valley West game at halftime but Mark Farrell dumped in 12 of his 22 points in the second half to lead his team to a 54-53 win. Tim Moyer scored all of his nine points in the second half to help the Mounts pull in front. Joe Darling had eight points and Steve Wilson picked up nine.

Dallas opened last night with Meyers at home.
