Cemetery chapel is being built

With the approval of Bishop James C. Timlin, D.D., Bishop of the Scranton Diocese and the Diocesan Building Commission, St. John's Parish, Nesbitt Street, Larksville, is currently construction a new cemetery chapel in St. John's Cemetery, near College Misericordia in Dallas.

The general contractor of the chapel is Sordoni Construction Co., of Wilkes-Barre, with the assistance of the Valley Engineering Co. of Forty Fort. The electrical work is being done by Brennan Electric of Kingston.

The chapel will provide a convenient and comfortable atmosphere for the burial of loved ones at St. John's Cemetery. The building will provide a vestibule and a main chapel for the burials. Seating will be provided for the members of the family and the entire chapel will be air-conditioned for the comfort of all. Rest rooms will be incorporated as well. The completion and dedication date of the new chapel is scheduled for Memorial Day, May 27, 1985.

Many parish activities have been held and are scheduled to help defray the expenses of this new edifice. Since many people have family members buried at the cemetery who are not members of St. John's parish and have asked if memorial donations are acceptable, memorial donations may be sent to St. John's Cemetery Memorial Fund, c/o St. John's Church, 126 Nesbitt St., Larksville, Pa., 18651.

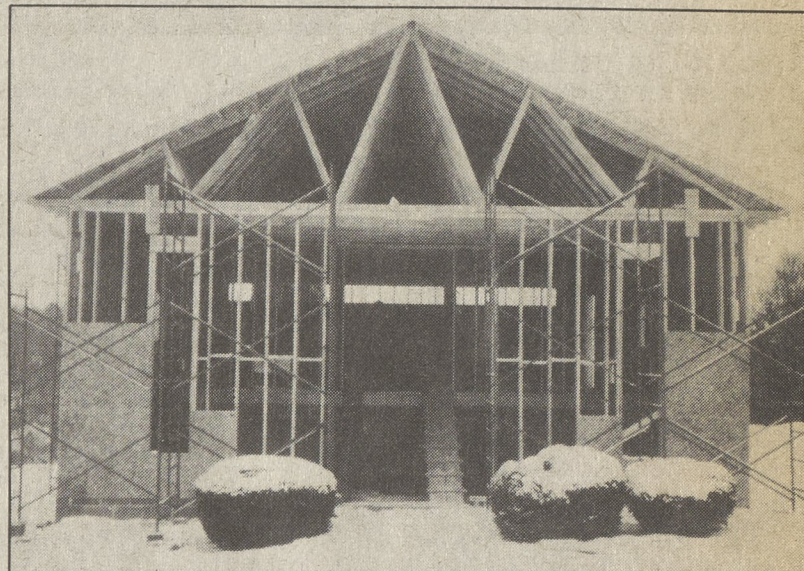

St. John's Parish is sponsoring a Paczkowy Bal-Doughnut Ball - A Valentine Dance on Sunday, Feb. 17, to help raise money for the chapel. All parish organizations and officers are assisting in the preparation of this parish function. A special drawing for cash prizes will also be held at this event. Music will be provided by George Tarasek and the Polka Partners from 7 to 11 p.m.

The Rev. John C. Masakowski, pastor, invites all parishioners and friends of St. John's to join the parish family at this affair. Tickets may be obtained by calling the rectory or they may be purchased at the door.

Crash sends four to hospital

Four Back Mountain residents were injured in a two-vehicle accident last Wednesday on Route 118 near the Lehman Fairgrounds, approximately one mile west of Dallas.

Injured were Jean M. Orkwis, 30, of RD 4, 148 Hemlock Drive, Oak Hill, Dallas, driver of one of the vehicles; Ronald H. Orkwis, 32, of RD 4, 148 Hemlock Drive, Oak Hill, Dallas, an occupant; Emma Jane Schoonover, 57, of RD 2, Dallas, driver of one of the vehicles; and Jestic Cook, 54, of RD 2, Box 317, Dallas, an occupant in the Schoonover vehicle.

According to the Pennsylvania State Police, wjp are currently investigating the accident, the Orkwis vehicle, a 1984 Chevrolet Blazer was travelling West on Route 118. It skidded on icy pavement and was struck broadside by a 1981

Buick driven by Ms. Schoonover, which was travelling East.

Trooper John Norwillo of Troop P, Pennsylvania State Police, Wyoming, is investigating the accident.

Avoid freezing pipes in this weather

The following self-help tips are offered to help minimize heat loss and avoid frozen water pipes during the frigid temperatures we're experiencing.

1. Set your thermostat back at night or if you will be away from your home more than four hours.
2. Close doors to unused rooms.
3. In sub-freezing weather, allow cold water to drip at a rate that will fill an 8 oz. water glass in a minute to prevent frozen pipes.
4. Reduce hot water temperatures.

5. In the laundry, use the lowest temperature wash possible.

6. Install switch-socket gaskets.
7. Install flow restrictors and aerators on shower heads.
8. Seal attic doors and fireplace flues.
9. Insulate hot water heater.
10. Have heating system checked, cleaned and adjusted to insure maximum efficiency.
11. Seal and insulate ducts and pipes to eliminate heat loss.
12. Periodically clean or replace air filters.

13. Consider installing roll plastic inside storm windows.

14. Fix leaky faucets.
15. Try to keep warm house air circulating. (Consider the use of a paddle-type ceiling fan if you have high ceilings.)
16. Don't block air flow from registers and cold-air returns with furniture.
17. Allow solar radiation to come in during the day, but close draperies by night to prevent room air from leaking out around windows and sliding patio doors.

Dock

overhead lanterns and hurricane table lamps that provide the soft, warm glow of elegance in the dining room.

Ms. Pugh plans further surprises and additions to the atmosphere at the Dry Dock in the near future, one of them being outdoor dining on the balcony.

If you're lucky, you'll get to meet Francisco, The Dry Dock's perky Spanish chef, whose eyes reflect both the seriousness with which he considers his customers' enjoyment and the obvious delight he finds in preparing his special dishes to perfection. One will notice a bit of good-natured mischief in Francisco's eyes as the sudden flaming of his "Bananas Flambe" forces an otherwise relaxed patron to jump up and take notice.

The menu at The Dry Dock is pleasingly provincial. Beginning with the appetizers, all are created with fresh fish and Francisco's special sauces. The "Bechmel" sauce, served with LaCoquille St. Jacques, (an appetizer of shrimp or scallops topped with selected seasonings, wine and parmesan cheese), is especially smooth and rich.

At present, there are 23 entrees of which "Paella" is the house specialty. Served with Spanish Rice, the Paella is a meal of generous proportions; overflowing with crab claws, clams, shrimp, sole, squid and Cherizo and mixed with olives, peppers, beans, asparagus and other delectables, which will please even the most discerning of palates. With the meal, a surprisingly subtle fresh pate or an oxtail consommé with blended sherry, can be served with a flavorful French bread.

Since the restaurant opened in December, 1984, Ms. Pugh has been adding to her wine list, paralleling her customers' tastes. At present, one may find a dependable selection from the red, white and rose California wines, as well as White Pouilly Fuisse, Cabernet, Beaujolais and other European favorites. Traditional crepes and flambes served with several varieties of international coffees, provide the grand finale to an eating extravaganza, that begins and ends with a definite continental flair...A treat not to be missed.

The Dry Dock is open daily 4 p.m. to 11 p.m., except Monday. Reservations are suggested and may be made by phoning The Dry Dock at 675-9636.
