In most cases it takes more than one six week session of swim lessons to learn how to swim. By starting now, your child will become better acquainted in and around the water.

There are water adjustment classes for children 3 months to 3 years. For children at pre-school age there are progressive swim classes, and with grade school children the 'Y' offers a progressive program with class times after school and on Saturday.

Most of the classes run a six-week session and they meet once a week. The sessions run continually throughout the year. Enrollment for the next session starts now, with the first class starting the week of Feb. 18. For more information call the 'Y' at 823-2191.
