Rothstein to expand

Rothstein Inc., Realtors, plans to increase its workforce dramatically during the next several months to meet the growing demand for affordable homes in northeastern Pennsylvania.

Alvin S. (Buddy) Rothstein, president of the real estate firm bearing his name, said he plans to add at least eight full-time representatives to his workforce by summer.

Rothstein, Inc., Realtors has offices in Kingston, Dallas, Mountaintop and Bloomsburg-Berwick.

"We are looking for winners. We want goal-oriented people who love helping people. We want people who have integrity and who are sensitive to the needs of home buyers," Rothstein said.

"There are a lot of talented people out there who are just working at a job. They have no sense of satisfaction or any sense of accomplishment or challenge. Real Estate is a profession that offers satisfaction, accomplishment and challenge," Rothstein said. "We are looking for people who want to grow and are willing to work hard to make it happen."

Rothstein said many people from a wide variety of professions have made the switch to real estate with Rothstein, Inc., Realtors, including an operating room nurse, an interior decorator, a health club manager, a convenience store manager, several self-employed small business people and housewives.

"Despite of, or perhaps because of their various and diverse backgrounds, they all have been successful at Rothstein Realtors," Rothstein said. "This career is ideal for a lot of people because, although the hours are long, they are flexible."

He said first year earnings for a hard-working sales associate who applies himself average $20,000.

Rothstein Inc. Realtors offers Career Interest and Aptitude Tests at no charge to help determine if the individuals have the potential to be successful at Real Estate.

Those selected will be required to pass two state-approved courses in Real Estate and be licensed as a Real Estate salesperson. After successful completion of the requirements, the sales associate will work out of one of Rothstein's offices in Dallas, Kingston, Mountaintop and Bloomsburg-Berwick.

For more information, and a Career Interest and Aptitude Test at no charge, apply in person at Rothstein Inc., Realtors, 44 Pierce St., Kingston.

Jacqueline Latosek announces candidacy

Jacqueline Latosek of 423 Mountain Road, Jackson Township has announced her candidacy for the office of tax collector of that township.

She is the former Jacqueline Kreidler, a 1970 graduate of Lake-Lehman High School, where she graduated with honors, having received the Commercial Business Award. She is also a graduate of College Misericordia, Class of 1981, where she earned her Business Administration degree with a concentration in accounting. Upon her graduation, she was awarded the Excellence in Accounting Studies Award from the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants. She is currently employed by Hillside Farms Dairy Store of Trucksville.

Jackie resides on Mountain Road with her husband, Joe and their four children. She feels that she can be an asset to the office of tax collector with her education in accounting and would offer convenient business hours for the township taxpayers.

This is her first attempt at running for a political office.

JACQUELINE LATOSEK

Cappellini is candidate

Attorney Gifford S. Cappellini, 320 Academy Street, Wilkes-Barre will seek both the Republican and Democratic nominations for Judge of the Luzerne County Court of Common Pleas in the May Primary election.

Cappellini, a graduate of Wilkes College and Dickinson School of Law, is associated with the law firm of Cappellini, Reinert and Cardone.

Married to the former Dorothy Jallo of Hazleton, they have five children: Atty. Gifford R. Cappellini, Dallas; Jeffrey Cappellini, senior at Temple University School of Law; Jill Lester of Phoenix, Arizona; Dorothy also of Phoenix, Arizona and Kim Boyle of Cambridge, Mass.

A registered Republican, Cappellini is a member of St. Theresa's Parish in Wilkes-Barre.

Cappellini has served in many civic organizations in Luzerne County, including UNICO of which he is past president and the United Way.

Do's and don'ts of poison

A new, revised edition of "Poison Dos and Don'ts" is now available to the public.

The book, adapted from the weekly "Ask Mr. Yuk" newspaper column by Thomas C. Royer, M.D., is a handbook for identifying poisons and treating poisonings. Dr. Royer is the founder of the Susquehanna Poison Center (SPC). A 31-hospital network, the SPC is based at Geisinger Medical Center in Danville, where Dr. Royer is now the medical director.

Originally published in 1981, the new edition of "Poison Dos and Don'ts" includes 50 percent more material including sections on drugs and alcohol, household poisons, poisonous plants, industrial and environmental poisons, and more. The material is presented in an easy-to-read question and answer format.

Love your dog? Buy a license

Do you think your dog is pretty special? What better way to show affection, than by purchasing a license for the "family friend," during National Pet Week, May 5-11.

"Pets bring joy, contentment and a feeling of well-being to so many Pennsylvanians each year. A pet is often actually part of the family. There's no better way to protect your dog than by purchasing a license," said state Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell. "Licenses are inexpensive but valuable to the well being of your four-legged companion," he added.

Licenses, which are required under the provisions of the Pennsylvania Dog Law, may be purchased at the county treasurer's offices throughout the Commonwealth. Fees are $3 for spayed and neutered dogs and $5 for all other dogs. Senior citizens 65 and older who present proof of age pay only $1.75 for nonproductive dogs and $2.75 for all other dogs. Owners should also provide proof of spaying and neutering when applying for their dog's license. Dog owners wishing to mail the fee must include signed applications and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"A license and precautionary inoculation against rabies can help ensure the health of your pet for years to come," said Hallowell.
