Making goodies

Jim Drury, proprietor of Drury's Delicatessen, Sunset, Harveys Lake, does most of the baking and cooking for the business.

DRURY'S DELI

By PAMELA AARON
Staff Correspondent

If Jim Drury isn't reason enough to visit Drury's Deli on Route 415 in Harveys Lake, Jim's homemade cream puffs certainly are!

Flaky pastry filled with cool vanilla custard and dipped in chocolate can sure make your mouth water on a lazy Sunday afternoon. Or any of the pastries...apple turnovers, pinwheels or fruit pockets, from his aromatic kitchen.

To watch Jim is to witness a veritable tornado of activity; cooking and serving meals, baking, slicing meats for club sandwiches, taking a phone order from a regular customer who wants 20 hoagies by this afternoon!

And none of it seems to ruffle ol' Jim. Jovial Jim's hospitality and good humor are extended to everyone with a good-natured sincerity that one has just about given up on in this era of fast foods and fast talk. Jim's warm and easy-going manner makes one feel that, indeed, nice guys can finish first.

And first in variety is Drury's menu: including all deli meats and sandwiches plus his catered specialties. (Where would The Dallas Post be without his catered buffets?)

Hoagies, fish, kielbasa, shrimp, barbeques, salads; just about anything you can name, Jim makes and makes well. His Rueben boasts a generous portion of cheese and is one of the best around. In fact, all of Jim's portions will shock the timid eater and satisfy the hearty one that has complained about going away hungry from other restaurants.

Drury has cooked and baked for most of his life. He was an army cook and delivered his lunches via truck in New Jersey for many years, before he opened the Deli. His wife, Dorothy, joined him soon after his move to Pennsylvania (to open Drury's Deli) becoming a maternity nurse at Nesbitt Memorial Hospital in Kingston. A daughter-in-law, Ann, helps out at the counter.

Drury's is especially well-known for its generous breakfasts. (Where else do you get four strips of bacon with your meal?) Jim's home fries are dished up by the ladle full as well. (Jim claims he uses 150 lbs. of potatoes a week.)

Prices are so reasonable, it hardly pays to cook at home. The best advantage of all, says Jim, is that Drury's is strictly casual. People at the lake already know that it's the only place to go after swimming or tennis where you can get a great meal without changing your clothes!

Drury's is open Sunday through Thursday, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, til 8 p.m. Please call for catering information. Phone: 639-2010.

Program discussed

Reach to Recovery is a rehabilitation program of the Wyoming Valley Unit of the American Cancer Society for women who have had breast cancer. It is designed to help women meet the physical, emotional and cosmetic needs related to their disease and its treatment. It also provides information and support to loved ones and friends. Reach to Recovery works through carefully selected and trained volunteers who have fully adjusted to their surgery, one woman reaching out to share and support another in time of need. After the physician authorizes the visit, an appointment is made with the patient. Shown here are Reach to Recovery volunteers, from left, Betty Mae Correll, Laurel Run; Bernice Shafer, Trucksville; Betty Rogers, Shavertown; Norma Keiper, West Wyoming.

Rent-Rite gives options to customers

By PAMELA AARON
Staff Correspondent

On a busy afternoon, Clem Kuras is busy explaining rental options on a Whirlpool Automatic Washer to an elderly gentleman, while a young couple, two small children in tow, examine the VCR of a Sylvania portable.

Clem shifts effortlessly between the two parties; answering questions and suggesting several models for each to inspect. All are top of the line products: a guarantee at Rent Rite of the 309-415 Plaza.

"Top of the line products are best," says Randy, co-manager of the Dallas store, "not only for maintenance reasons, but because of the superior service they give. We offer the best product at the lowest possible rates, because our overhead remains low and we service all our own equipment. Few of the larger chains can do this," he explains.

Inside the store, one finds reliable brands, known for their quality. Rent Rite buys only Sylvania sound equipment and TVs and only Whirlpool washers, dryers and refrigerators. It is not the fanciest of stores, as Randy suggests, and presently only he and Clem and a part-time salesgirl, Michele Bren operate the store. The prices, one discovers, are comparatively low.

Basically a rent or rent-to-own operation, Randy maintains that he can work out most any deal to suit any of his customers. For example, the 90 percent deal is a no-finance way of renting while purchasing.

"There are two types of business we deal in, primarily," Randy explains, "one being strictly rental, for those who, for whatever reason, must have a short-term rental, or a rent to buy customer. For the latter, it is in their best interests to pay off the fees as soon as they are able, as this provides the quickest, most inexpensive way to purchase an item, as if on credit, but without credit status. It is one of the easiest ways to establish good credit when one has not acquired any."

Rent Rite provides in-home servicing for all its customers, as well as a free "loaner" model, in the event that the product would need more extensive repairs. Service is free for the entire rental time; something one doesn't usually get when purchasing an item on time.

Rent Rite also offers several bonus plans; one is a save-a-buck coupon plan which can work to pay off rentals and also provide a finder's fee to someone who recommends a customer to Rent Rite.

The store is open Monday and Tuesday from 10 til 6 p.m.; Thursday and Friday from 10 til 8 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 to 5 p.m. Rent Rite is closed on Wednesdays and Sundays.

A second store and the original is located on 164 West 9th Street in Bloomsburg and has been open approximately two years. Rent Rite is available to all its customers, 24 hours a day by dialing: 675-1199.

Fido needs a license

State Dog Wardens assigned to the Regional Bureau of Dog Law Enforcement will be in Luzerne County for a major license drive starting next week, according to Gene Dziak, dog law supervisor stationed in Tunkhannock. Present plans call for the wardens to visit a wide area of the county for about several weeks.

Supervisor Dziak announced "all persons found in violation of the state dog law will receive a citation and be subject to fines of up to $300 plus costs. That goes for owners of unlicensed dogs as well as those who allow their animals to run at large."

Licenses can be purchased at the County Treasurer's Office and several municipal buildings still have a few applications available.
