A little of this... ...a little of that

THE ATTENDANCE at our Crime Watch meeting last Thursday night at the Dallas Senior High School auditorium was somewhat disappointing at first. However, when Lieutenant Jerry Cookus of the Wilkes-Barre Police Department told me there were only nine people present at the very first Crime Watch meeting in Wilkes-Barre, I was rather relieved. Crime Watch in the city now involves over 37,000 people.

DOTTY MARTIN

We had approximately 40 people at our meeting and, thanks to Lt. Cookus, Mr. Elmer Bradshaw of the Luzerne County Crime Watch Organization and District Attorney Robert Gillespie, those people were briefed on just exactly how Crime Watch works.

And, their time was well spent because, as I've been told, Crime Watch Programs are beginning to sprout up all around the Back Mountain. We've had reports that one is starting in Elmcrest in Dallas Township, one is beginning in a neighborhood in Kingston Township, and neighbors in the Park Street/Elizabeth Street neighborhood have begun to organize one.

Don't wait until it's too late — organize a Crime Watch program in your neighborhood before your home is vandalized or burglarized. You'll feel much safer.

OUR STAFF WRITER Judie Mathers has dubbed me a "connoisseur of fine wines" — and, for good reason, I might add.

You see, Judie was on the receiving end of a four-liter bottle of Chablis wine, one of three that had been given to me. I thought it was a pretty nice gesture on my part and thought Judie might enjoy a nice, cold glass of wine upon arriving home from work that day — since we had both spent a rather hectic afternoon in the newsroom.

Judie agreed with that idea and, upon her arrival at home that evening, proceeded to remove her shoes, put her feet up and pour herself a glass of wine — only to discover the bottle was filled with water, rather than wine.

Boy, did I take a lot of ribbing in the office the next day! So, I went home and emptied the two remaining bottles down the drain — but, wait until I get my hands on the "friend" who gave them to me.

RUMOR HAS IT Park Street in Dallas got mighty wet one night last week.

Seems one of the residents there who recently installed a swimming pool in their side yard attempted to fill the pool, only to have the hose fall out of the pool sometime during the night, thus watering a good portion of the neighborhood.

We won't mention any names to protect the guilty, but we sure do hope the family has better luck with the pool during this year's swimming season.

CONGRATULATIONS AND BEST WISHES to Mark Kunkle upon his new appointment. Mark will be leaving his position as manager of Kingston Township to move into a very similar position in a much larger municipality.

We wish Mark, his wife and daughter the best of luck in their new home and in his new position. Kingston Township will certainly miss his enthusiasm, however. Mark has been associated with Kingston Township for several years and certainly had some rather innovative ideas while serving as township manager there.

I PLAYED SOFTBALL with Judy Daley of College Misericordia fame last week. Boy, was I surprised to see her there as she and I both agreed there should be an age limit in those kinds of recreational leagues, forcing people like the two of us to give it up.

Judy sure was surprised when I snagged two fly balls in centerfield, but, boy, was I shocked when she tagged our winning run out at home plate. Maybe we're not so old after all, are we Judy?

A GREAT BIG ROUND OF APPLAUSE goes to June Supey of Trucksville. June received her Bachelor of Science Degree in Nursing from Marywood College during commencement ceremonies held Sunday afternoon on the Scranton campus.

June is employed as an obstetrics nurse at Nesbitt Memorial Hospital and is to be commended on her latest accomplishment.

June's oldest son, Eric, will join his Mom in the cap and gown department as he prepares to graduate from Dallas High School this year while younger brother, Greg, will finish his junior year at Dallas.

CAN'T HELP BUT WISH a speedy recovery to my dear stepmother, Laura Martin, of Forty Fort.

Laura, who is also employed at Nesbitt Memorial Hospital, underwent major surgery last Saturday and is, much to her dismay, down and out for a while.

I do hope, however, that she'll be up and around soon, making coffee for the whole neighborhood as she usually does.

WE'RE CERTAINLY ENJOYING being in our new office in the Route 309/415 Plaza in Dallas.

It's amazing how many people have stopped in to see us or who have just been passing by and said hello.

Why, just the other day we had a conversation with Anna Mae Delaney and Jean Fletcher who were strolling through the plaza after spending the morning on the golf course.

Anna Mae, who now lives in Forty Fort, was a long-time resident of the Back Mountain as she and her family used to reside in New Goss Manor.

SPEAKING OF DELANEYS, congratulations are in order for Cathy Delaney of Harveys Lake.

Cathy, daughter-in-law of Anna Mae, was named Vice President of Operations of Harris Brown, Inc., an import/export company in Avoca.

Mrs. Delaney has been employed by Harris Brown for seven years. A native of Plymouth, she is married to P.J. Delaney. The couple has a daughter, Katie, 16 months old.

Way to go, Cathy!

LIBRARY NEWS

By NANCY KOZEMCHAK
Library Correspondent

All I can say is, thanks, Impala! One more trip! Philadelphia this time and my Chevy behaved very well, down and back and all around the city.

My son Cliff and his wife Barbara are living in Chestnut Hill and I spent a beautiful sunny two days with them, touring historic Philadelphia and grabbing some sunshine. We sat in the back yard of their town house and watched the jets fly over; went shopping in some of their great shops; had dinner at 21 West, an exclusive restaurant, saw some 8-man crew shells rowing down the Schuylkill River; did some chipping on the back nine, which actually was practicing chipping with nine golf balls in the back yard; and got to hear the Phillies win a game on local WCAU.

We drove into the city and saw some of the famous landmarks, including the building recently restored where Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence. We saw the offices where they both work in Independence Square and the Chestnut Hill Branch of the Free Library of Philadelphia.

Sunday morning we attended a beautiful service in St. Paul's Episcopal Church and had lunch at the Valley Green Inn on the Schuylkill River, a historical site, established in 1683. Bought the Philadelphia Inquirer and on the front page was the E.F. Hutton story with United Penn Bank of Wilkes-Barre mentioned in the first paragraph. Saw the quaint section of town with brick roads and the trolleys running on the tracks. We visited the Woodmere Art Museum and enjoyed the super exhibit.

I sure did enjoy Philadelphia with all its history and was able to experience some of its Brotherly Love!

A reminder: the library is accepting donations of books, new goods, odds and ends and used goods for the auction which may be brought in to the library on Huntsville Road during regular hours. Monty Evans is 1985 auction chairman and is looking for volunteers to help in every department. Interested people can contact the library at 675-1182.

The Back Mountain Memorial Library circulated 7,562 books during the month of April and set a new record high when 169 new members joined the library. Circulation showed a 532 increase over last month with 934 reference questions. Book Club circulated 312 books.

Sorry to hear that the Back Mountain Jaycettes have disbanded. They donated their lollypop tree to the library for use at the auction and we are grateful for that.

A special thank you to the Dallas Area Federated Woman's Club for their donation $800 to the library, proceeds from their recent card party and fashion show. The library is indeed grateful for this contribution which will be put to good use.

STATE CAPITOL ROUNDUP

Here is a summary of important events that occurred on Capitol Hill last week from Rep. Frank Coslett, 120th Legislative District.

LOCAL VOTERS would determine whether to allow small games of chance in their communities under a bill approved by the House this week. The measure, which was sent to the Senate for consideration, would permit communities to decide the matter by voter referendum. If approved, non-profit groups, such as fire companies and charitable, fraternal, religious and veterans clubs, could offer punchboard and fishbowl games. The State Revenue Department would license the organizations with fees going to local school districts.

ENACTING LAWS which effectively address the problem of domestic violence in Pennsylvania has been a long-time priority of Rep. Lois S. Hagarty (R-Montgomery). This week the House overwhelmingly approved legislation developed by Hagarty which would provide police with broader arrest powers in cases of domestic violence. Under the measure, an officer could arrest a suspect without a warrant if it appears likely that domestic violence has taken place. The bill also empowers district justices to order a defendant not to return to a residence or workplace for 72 hours, if such action would prevent contact with the victim. Currently, Hagarty said, the law pressures the victim to file a complaint before police can take action. The bill is now in the Senate.

LEGISLATION REQUIRING driver education as a prerequisite to receiving a driver's license for persons 16 to 17 years old was introduced by two Republican lawmakers. Reprs. Lynn Herman (Centre) and Hal Mowery (Cumberland) drafted the bill in response to studies indicating that young motorists without driver education are far more likely to be involved in accidents than those with training.

Poem offered to readers

It looked extremely rocky
For the Pirate nine that day,
The score was 16-13
With but an inning left to play
The Tigers got the first two out
The Pirates never quit
And just as their hopes got dim
Michael got a hit
One or two got up to leave
The crowd muttered as they talked.
They thought the game was over,
That's when two more Pirates walked.
Up came little Randy Slaff
Eight years old and 60 pounds
A hush came o'er the diamond
Their narry was a sound
The pitcher made a mighty throw
And Randy let it go
Not my style thought the redhead
Strike One! The umpire said
The next three throws were teasing balls
The umpire thought so, too
Then Randy made a vicious swing
The umpire yelled, strike two!
Tension filled the ball park!
The pitcher gave an awesome glare
He fired his best fastball
It came hurtling through the air

Somewhere kids were playing
Somewhere children shout
This ode's a little different
'Cause Randy hit it out
On that given Saturday
A boy became a man

On the field in Dallas
Randy hit it, his mighty Grand
Slam
