ting out the Tigers, 6-0 and then pounded the Reds, 15 -4. John Morris and Keith Kozel shared mount duties against the Tigers and combined to rack up 12 strikeouts, allowing only one hit in the contest.

Chuckie Finn banged out a triple, driving in two runs while teammate John Morris rapped three hits, including a double for what proved to be all the offense the Pirates would need. The Pirate bats exploded against the Reds after being down by a score of,4-1. Justin Reich and Eoin Ennis collected three big hits each, while Chuck Finn and Eric Paczewski both blasted homers with men aboard.

Other Pirate hitters included Todd Paczewski and Steve Gregor getting two hits apiece. Pitcher Eric Paczewski, in upping his record to 3-1, Suburban Propane Phillies 1-7 recorded 13 K's.

Tournament set

The Dallas High School Soccer Team is planning a trip to Scotland in the summer of 1986. In order to make this trip economically possible for all boys who are members of the varsity team or who will have been on the team for two years, the Soccer Club composed of parents of team members are sponsoring a Golf Tournament to help raise funds. A day of golf and comradery is planned at the Irem Temple Country Club in Dallas on June 21 beginning at 2 p.m. A shot gun start with the calloway system of scoring will be used. After play has been completed, dinner will be served and prizes will be awarded. Committee members are now in the process of obtaining sponsors for this event as well as registering players. Area golfers are invited to play this beautiful course and compete for over $600 in prizes. Trophies will also be awarded to low gross and low net golfers. Reservations to participate in this tournament may be made by calling 696-1343. Deadline for reservations is June 7. Shown here, from left, are Barry Fies, Irem Temple Country Club Golf Pro as he takes time out from golf tournament preparations to give some golf tips to Dallas High School Soccer Team membrs Jason Maniskas, Donald Hopkins and Ray Besecker.

Rodgers on sports

Today's youth want guidance, not just lectures on the don'ts

By JOHN RODGERS Staff Correspondent

be honest. These were four starting sports, realizing I didn't have lines I was approached with enough experience in other areas. recently at a graduation party I attended. They were opening lines found their biggest complaint. That for conversation on a subject I was is that they are always reminded of completely unprepared for by four the "dont's" — the bad things with high school seniors, three boys and

The subject what would you say to a child, especially concerning athletics? Wow! What can you say? started with the "Old" cliche, just be honest and do your best, try and meet your goals, that kind of stuff. Well they didn't go for it. Let's get down to facts was their reply. Here are some of their ideas on this and, boy, they make a lot of Obviously, we set goals, both academically and athletically and we try to reach them - sometimes with success, sometimes without but doesn't anyone realize we have more fields to attain these goals than most people. This is the most important years of our lives now, everything we do is setting the stage for our adult lives. As one put serious thinking to myself.

thing from the way we eat, who we hang around with, the way we dress, not to mention our grades Let's talk turkey, let's throw the and athletics. Well this is where I bull, let's compare notes and let's tried to limit the conversation to

> This is where I searched little or no emphasis on their good qualities, qualities they could work on harder and perfect to use as their foundations.

> Also they have no modern day heroes to look up to, to set examples. As one said, people in the generation ahead of them had some good books and movies like the Lou Gehrig Story or Brian's Song, something to make people think and

> They say they have the movie, "The Natural," but for the most part all they hear about are drugs and drinking. They said they got the message, but how about the alternatives. Why doesn't someone stress this, they asked, and give us some guidelines instead of always telling us what we shouldn't do. Let us, as individuals, know what we're good at and give us ideas on how to use

Well, the conversation went on and on, the group got bigger, parents joined in, there were even a few coaches involved and when I get home, it had me doing some around and there is college, but in many cases after high school, these leagues cannot satisfy everyone's schedules and not everyone will go to college which leaves things in somewhat of a neutral zone. So where do we go from here? I don't really have any answers for sure, but maybe someone else does.

programs around here are directly mainly for the age groups between 6 to 18, from roughly first grade to seniors? After that it's almost a lost issue, which puts post graduation sports at a near null. Oh yeah, there are few scattered amateur leagues

As I stated, I have no sure solution to a very realistic problem that maybe we all didn't take notice of, but if anyone has any ideas no matter how small you think they may be, pass it on. As a well known commercial says, "It's the start of a new generation." Let's give it all we have to offer.
