Adult Night

Adult Night at Penn State Wilkes-Barre, held every Tuesday from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Lehman campus, offers an opportunity for women and men to meet with a qualified counselor and discuss their concerns about returning to college. Shown are, David Grimes, left, who recently completed spring courses and is selecting summer courses with Lynn Morgan, evening counselor. Participants in the free program will have their questions answered about job search strategies, financial aid and admission procedures. Also, they will receive such job hunting tips as resume and cover letter writing and interview skills. No appointment was necessary. For more information, contact Ms. Morgan evenings at 675-2171, ext. 224.

Tree presented

Fritz Hall, far left, president of the Dallas Rotary Club, presents a wooden tree, symbolic of the gift of new trees the club made to College Misericordia in recognition of the college's "years of service to the community through use of its facilities and resources." Accepting the gift, on behalf of the college, are Sister Eloise McGinty, RSM, presidential assistant and former registrar of the college, second from right, and Dr. Joseph R. Fink, second from left, president of the college. Far right is Paul Priebe, of Dallas, Rotary chairman for the recent "Salute to College Misericordia" held by the Rotary at Irem Temple Country Club.

Act passed

When Congress passed the Missing Children's Act of 1982, they provided a means of safeguarding our children. The Act gives parents and local police access to the Federal Bureau of Investigation's (FBI) National Crime Information Center computer.

Congress authorized the creation of the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, based in Washington, D.C. to help local agencies, civic groups, governments and law enforcement officials deal with the increasing problem of our missing children.

Our children are our future. Let's safeguard our children. Help us find missing children.
