A little of this... ...a little of that

THE SMELL OF GRADUATION is in the air these days with area high schools holding commencement ceremonies every time you turn around. The Dallas Post extends a great big round of applause to all 1985 graduates.

And, I would like to personally congratulate some graduates who are special Eric to me. Supey, of Trucksville, received his diploma from Dallas High School last Thursday evening. Eric son of June and Robert Supey, will attend Penn State-Wilkes-Barre campus in September. Debbie Pearn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Pearn of Forty Fort, finished her high school days at Wyoming Valley West last Thursday and will continue her education at Luzerne County Community College. And, Denise Trettel, daughter of our general manager, Charlie Trettel and his wife, Audrey, graduated from Berwick High School on Sunday evening. Denise also plans to continue her education at Luzerne County Community College.

RECEIVED TWO MORE unsigned letters to the editor and ask, once again, that their authors come forward to sign them.

As I stated last week, we cannot possibly publish these letters without a signature on them. We will, however, withhold the author's name if he or she will only come forward to identify themselves to

Letters to the editor are one of the most effective ways community residents have of making their feelings on a particular subject known. But, when the letters are allowed to go no further than the editor's desk, their purpose is immediately defeat.

JACK FOWLER, a member of the Dallas Borough Police Department, is all smiles these days. Having returned home recently from a fishing trip in Canada, Jack's prized possession now is a 43-inch, 23-pound Northern Pike.

Rumor has it that Jack, as strong as he may be, needed 15 minutes to reel the catch in. And Jack says he's not even a fisherman. He confided to me that he didn't even know the darn fish was taking his bait until he noticed his bobber had disappeared for quite some time.

Future visitors to the Fowler home will probably see Jack's prize hanging on a wall in the house

LITTLE JENNY COOPER, one of The Dallas Post newspaper carriers, came to visit us the other day. My, she doesn't seem to have grown much since our banquet.

Our apologies to Jenny, though, for our sticking door. Seems the door to our new office has a habit of sticking and causing some difficulty to those who try to open it. Fortunately, for Jenny, there was a woman coming to our office at the same time and she kindly enough opened the door for Jenny Better eat your Wheaties, Jenny!

THE DALLAS POST AND THE MOUNTAIN LITTLE LEAGUE have joined hands in an effort to better both organizations.

Members of the Little League Organization will be selling subscriptions to The Dallas Post for the next two weeks. For every $12 subscription sold by a Back Mountain Little Leaguer, The Dallas Post will donate $2 to the little league organization to be used toward renovations to the little league field.

The little leaguers will also have a chance to win big prizes as The Post will be awarding a 10-speed bicycle to the top salesperson, an AM-FM cassette tape player to the person who sells the second most subscriptions and a radio headset to third highest salesperson.

The Dallas Post asks the Back Mountain community to rally 'round the Little Leaguers in helping them raise money to make their little league field a better place to play and, at the same time, keep up on all the happenings in the Back Mountain by reading The Dallas

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY is still in need of funds to help defray the cost of its restoration. Organizations, as well as individuals, have been sending money for this most worthwhile project but several thousand dollars are still needed.

Lee Iacocca, general chairman of the fund-raising drive for the Statue of Liberty, is appealing to Americans nationwide to help foot the bill.

Anyone desiring to help the Lady should send their donation to the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island Foundation, Inc., PO Box Liberty, New York, New York 10117.

IT IS WITH MUCH REGRET that I announce the resignation of Judie Mathers, our staff writer. Judie. who has only been with us for about three months, will be relocating to the Gettysburg area where her husband, Hap, has accepted employ-

Judie had been employed in the newspaper business in the Back Mountain for a little over a year and was the first full-time editorial department member of the editorial department we've had for over two

LIBRARY NEWS

By NANCY KOZEMCHAK Library Correspondent

The library is maving a super starspangled summer smurf show. We have had a very nice upright exhibit case donated for library display use. There are seven shelves in this exhibit case and every shelf is filled with smurfs. There are 121 smurfs in the display, including six brand new historical smurfs; Paul Reveresmurf, thomas Edi-smurf, Bejasmurf Franklim, George Smurfington, Abraham Lincoln-smurf and Christo-smurf Columbus.

These smurfs belong to Maria, Jean and Greg Stahovec of Machell Ave., Dallas and they will be spending the summer at the library in the hopes of making every day a little

Did you ever see a smurf dancing, reading, baking, playing soccer, doing carpentry or plumbing, grad-uating or planting flowers? If not, drop in to the library and see smurfs doing all of these things and a lot more. They share a prime spot in the main entrance area of the

I have to say thank you to Chiz. It's another case of knowing the right person. The lock on the new exhibit case needed a key. I asked Chiz, if he had an extra one that might work, he clid, I tried it, and it works. Thanks, Chiz, now we can lock our exhibit case.

The 39th annual library auction will be here before we know it. It will be held on the new library grounds on July 11, 12, 13 and 14. Mont Evans is general chairman and has announced a Kick-Off dinner (picnic style) set for Wednesday, June 26, at 7:00 at the Irem Temple Country Club pavilion. Cost is $12.50 per person; tickets are available from Joan Evans, 675-0302, or Joyce Krivenko, 675-0083 or at the library 675-1182.

Our display case is showing antiques and collectibles borrowed from Ernie Ashbridge, antique chairman for the auction. There are four Madame Alexander dolls, Irish, Marme, Thailand and Norway; a hand-carved brass trim pipe dated 1824; tin pail hand painted by Dean & Jean Lee; satis glass tumbler; cobalt blue finger bowl, wheel cut Initial "S"; a brass school bell; a cast iron car; sterling and bronze vase dated 1912 and numbered; and a pink wheel cut creamer and sugar. These items will be sold across the block at the auction.

I have a set of keys in my desk drawer that belong to the 1985 Chevy Cavalier which is being chanced off for the auction. Chances are $5.00 each and the car is on display on the front lawn of the library during claylight hours. I must say thank you to GG for buying the first chance here at the library. Chances may be bought from library board members, auction committee members, staff members or at the circulation desk in the library.

One more thank you; to Priscilla Liput for the American flag and pole which she clonated. The flag has been flying at the library since Memorial Day. This is much appre-

STATE CAPITOL ROUNDUP

Here is a summary of important events that occurred on Capitol Hill last week from Rep. Frank Coslett, 120th Legislative I) istrict.

LEGISLATORS BEGAN the complex process of finalizing th 1985-86 state budget this week. The House approved a $9.7 billion spending plan and sent it to the Senate for consideration. The Senate, meanwhile, passed a bill to reduce the personal income 'tax rate from the current 2.35 to 2.2 percent. Such a cut would return an estimated $165 million to taxpayers. Lawmakers face a June 30th cleadline to adopt a new budget. It's anticipated that the final version of the fiscal blueprint will be developed by a joint House-Senate conference committee.

THE HOUSE moved quickly to provide emergency relief to victims of last week's tornado disaster which devastated 13 counties in Pennsylvania. At least 62 people died. The House unanimously passed a resolution to consider appropriate funding to assist recovery efforts. President Reagan declared the 13 counties a federal disaster area and Vice President George Bush toured one section in western Pennsylvnia. Officials from the governor's Office, Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency, and the Department of Community Affairs began planning a long-term relief efforts while state and local emergency teams provided immediate assistance.

PERMITS TO carry guns in Pennsylvania would be extended from one to five years if a bill which passed the House becomes law. Sponsored by Rep. Lynn B. Herman (R-Centre), the measure would also increase the liceuse fee from $2.50 to $7.50. Of that amount, $5 would go to the county sheriff's office where the license is issued. Herman said lengthening the gun permit period is a cost-effective measure which would not diminish the effectiveness IDENT of crime control.

DEAR EDITOR: I have several children in our elementary school, and have been appalled by certain parents who seem to have nothing better to do than to criticize both our teachers and especially the PTO.

To these troublemakers, I retort their own words - Clean Up Your Act! Try spending less time writing letters, making phone calls and finding ways to undermine the hardworking members of both the faculty and the PTO. Your time would be much better spent helping the PTO and the faculty coordinate events for your children. Stop using the PTO as a place to air your childish personality conflicts, and allow it to return to the job it is intended to do

Certain statements have been made about a PTO clique. The PTO is open to all parents. It seems, however, that only a very few parents are ever available when a PTO event takes place or a teacher needs to help to plan something for a class. Each voice is heard. Decisions are made for the majority, and as in all things, not everyone can be pleased with decisions all the Certain parents are called upon as chaperones, helpers, etc. because they are the ones who have always been there when something has to be done. The teachers know these parents, despite busy schedules, can be counted on throughout the year. If these people are considered the clique, then I applaud them for the sure that this so-called click would appreciate new volunteers to help lighten their load.

Parents today have very busy schedules, however, the time and support given to a PTO is for the good of all the children. Hopefully, the problems faced this year will not cause parents to allow the PTO to fold from non-support. The fundraising projects of the PTO provide time and energy they have given to the opportunity for special holiday the PTO and faculty this year. I am parties, programs, and field trips to be given to the children. To allow the PTO to disband would only hurt the intended recipients, the chil-
