DEAR "AUNT PATTY"

Youngster wonders about lost items

DEAR AUNT PATTY:
I am nine years old and I have a question I have been wondering about for a long time. Why do I always find something I am looking for in the last place I look?

D. FROM DALLAS
DEAR D. FROM DALLAS:
Because once you find something you have no need to continue looking. Therefore, you found it in the last place you looked. Hopefully your memory will improve to the point where you'll find most things in the first place you look.

DEAR AUNT PATTY:
I don't want any advice - I just want to comment. There is a sign in the center of Dallas at the Post Office that says Congratulations Class of 1985. I wonder how many 1985 Dallas graduates noticed congratulations is spelled incorrectly. I bet not many!

LAUGHING IN LEHMAN
DEAR AUNT PATTY:
I have a sweet newborn baby. I fell silly asking my doctor so I wondered if you could tell me why all babies have a soft spot on top of their heads?

NEW MOM
DEAR NEW MOM:
When babies are born, there is a lot about them that isn't quite finished: they don't have any teeth, their tear ducts are not developed, their nails are soft, and most babies have little hair. A baby's head is not finished growing either. The soft spot is there to leave room for the bones in the baby's head to grow along with the rest of its body.

You should not hesitate to ask your doctor any questions you may have about your baby and its development. Your question is not silly!
