Kiwanis Club honors George McCutcheon

By JOHN F. KILDUFF
Staff Writer

After six years of dedicated service to the Dallas Kiwanis All-Star softball game and probably as many years coaxing him to accept it, Dallas resident George McCutcheon has received the Kiwanis Club's award for meritorious service involving women's athletics.

"I really appreciate their (Kiwanis) thoughts in presenting me with this award," McCutcheon said Monday. "They know the game (the annual East/West High School All-star classic) and have given the award to five very good people," McCutcheon continued. "I feel honored to be mentioned in the same company of the past recipients."

McCutcheon, 131 Overbrook Road, Dallas, was instrumental in the evolution of the annual East/West Women's All-Star game six years ago and feels today that the game is an excellent showcase for top notch women softball players to prepare for college careers.

"I feel it's a good chance for area coaches to look at some good players," McCutcheon said. "It gives some players, the 'sleepers' a chance to get a look," McCutcheon said.

McCutcheon continued by saying that the crowd attending the game over the past six years has continued to grow. This year's crowd was estimated at a few hundred.

"I think the high school coaches really deserve a great deal of credit," McCutcheon said in reference to the All-Star game. "They carry most of the load."

Next year, McCutcheon said, the coaches plan to have an athletic trainer at the contest in order to assist in the event of injuries. This year's contest was marred by injuries to Wyoming Seminary's Donna Zavada and Wyoming Valley West's Debbie Pearn, who collided while flagging down a pop fly.

When asked why he had declined accepting the award from the Dallas Kiwanis a number of years past, McCutcheon amiably said: "I felt like the Kiwanis didn't really need to give me an award. I've had more than enough in my life to more than please me."

POLICE BLOTTER

KINGSTON TOWNSHIP

Three Back Mountain residents were transported to Nesbitt Memorial Hospital Friday, after sustaining facial injuries resulting from a rear-end collision on Route 309.

Taken to Nesbitt by Kingston Township Ambulance Association were James G. Gorman Jr. of 94 Hickory St, Dallas; David Lewis, 63 Yeager Ave, Shavertown and Marion E. Kasko of RD 5, Kasko Road, Shavertown.

According to the police report, Gorman, while traveling north on 309 in the passing lane, struck Kasko, who was stopped and was waiting to turn left onto S. Main Street. Gorman had momentarily looked left at a funeral procession heading southbound. Gorman tried to stop, the report indicates, but he couldn't and skidded 69 feet into Kasko.

Kingston township officer James Balavage investigated.

DALLAS TOWNSHIP

A Chevy pick-up truck operated by Mark P. Dimirco, 48 Luzerne Street, Wilkes-Barre damaged a PennDot sign on Rt. 309 Saturday after swerving across 309, over-laws crossing Ferguson Ave.

There were no injuries reported and Dallas Township patrolman Doug Lamoreux investigated.

A Kingston man was taken to Nesbitt Memorial Hospital Sunday after the car he was operating on Goodrich Road skidded off the road and struck a utility pole.

John Schwartz, 332 North Sprague Avenue, Kingston reportedly lost control of his vehicle while negotiating a right curve on Goodrich Road, causing the auto to skid off the road into a ditch where it struck the utility pole.

Officer Doug Lamoreux investigated.
