A little of this... ...a little of that flowing in all week and I have been given such suggestions from taking a windjammer cruise to going to College Misericordia to study

That's right a certain gentleman by the name "The Hermit of Kahill Mountain" suggested I take an English course at Misericordia because I printed a grammatically incorrect statement DOTTY MARTIN last week when

I used the phrase "those better traveled than me." What I should have written was "those better traveled than I.

My apologies to my readers and a great big thanks to the Hermit for bringing this to my attention.

THE MORE PLEASANT SIDE, the Hermit then suggested I travel to Ocracoke, North Carolina where I'll find 14 miles of beach, good restaurants, a few good motels and some interesting islanders. Sounds like fun, doesn't it?

But, anyway, my mind still isn't made up and I am still accepting suggestions from anyone who thinks they know where I should go. (Now, there's a phrase that could get me in a lot of trouble.)

Our own Betty Bean thinks I'd really enjoy a windjammer cruise, however, my claustrophobia tells me I'd better pass up that idea. Dallas Post correspondent Joan Kingsbury feels I'd be in seventh heaven if I went to Mystic Seaport in Connecticut while reader Barry Smith suggests I travel to Bailey's Island in Maine.

Anybody have a better idea? Please write or call me and let me know your vacation suggestion.

VACATION IDEAS have been aged to crack heads in the fourth inning, sending both of them sprawling to the field and then to the hospital via Dallas Ambulance.

The game continued despite a serious lack of enthusiasm on the parts of all those involved. Hey, any accident in any type of game is going to take the spirit out of the game - that's just human nature.

But, a lot of people seem to think the coaches and the Kiwanis Club members did the wrong thing by continuing the game. I disagree wholeheartedly!

The coaches made the decision to complete the game for some very good reasons. Their main reason, however, is because most of the girls involved in the game are going to continue their softball careers when they get to college in September and the coaches didn't want to leave a sour taste for the sport in their mouths. Smart move, as far as I'm concerned.

Athletics are a chancey thing and the possibility of injury exists in every sport. Athletes know this and it's something they have come to Discontinuing the game would have been a mistake - for everyone involved. And I'd like to commend the coaches for having the courage to continue - the girls who go on to college will surely thank them when they come to realize their reasons for not stopping the game.

AS FOR DEBBIE AND DONNA, my biggest wishes for a speedy recovery. Your injuries, though painful right now, attest to the type of athletes both of you are extremely dedicated and hard-work-

Those bumps and bruises will be better before you know it, too.

SPEAKING OF SOFTBALL, my softball teammates have a new name for me. They call me GQ. Geritol Queen!

How's that for a slap in the face? guess I don't have to tell you I'm the oldest member of the team. And, none of my teammates will let me forget it.

I MET A REAL CLOWN at one of star game idea several years ago my softball games the other night — Harry Lefko! Harry is a member of a person instrumental in promoting the Irem Temple Clown Unit - you know, those guys who dress up in those crazy outfits and do all kinds bestow honors on George for some of crazy things - for the main reason of helping children.

Nice to meet you, Harry. Harry's daughter, Cindy, is the third base-man for the softball team on which I play. It's a good thing she's a better softball player than she is a bowler.

LIBRARY NEWS

By NANCY KOZEMCHAK Library Correspondent

We are looking elegant! The land-scaping has been completed at the entrance to the library and it adds so much to the overall beauty of our new library. The planters have a variety of shrubs, such as arbor vita, Japanese yew, hybrid rhododendrons, pyracantha and contoneaster; planted in a lovely arrangement and makes the entrance to the

A special thank you to the Dallas
Rotary Club for their donation of $300 to the capital funds campaign and also to the members of Junior Girl Scout Troop 644 who conducted a bake sale recently and donated the proceeds of $108 to the Children's Room.

The Wyoming Valley Art League has purchased the top award-winning painting at its Spring Member Show and donated it to the Back Mountain Memorial Library. The painting is "Bowhunter's Challenge" done by John D. Lewis of Plymouth.

The 39th annual library auction is almost upon us and things are beginning to shape up. The dates are July 11, 12, 13 and 14 on the grounds surrounding the new library on Huntsville Road. Wyoming National Bank of Shavertown and Besecker's Realty in Dallas are displaying some of the exciting antiques and collectibles which will be sold over the auction block during the sale.

In conjunction with the auction, a Back Mountain Biatholon Relay is being sponsored by Bud Light Beer and Falcone Beverage. Applications are available at the library or from the newspaper advertisements. The run will start and finish at the library on Saturday morning, July 13. The run begins at 8:30 a.m. with a bicycle ride of 9.95 miles and then a run of 4.30 miles. The Biathlon relay can be done by a 2 person team or a single athelte event. Bud Light T-shirts will be distributed to the first 300 entrants. All proceeds will benefit the Back Mountain Memorial Library. Send registrations to the library. The beautiful hand pieced quilt which was done by the Trinity Presbyterian Women hangs on the wall next to my desk in our office area and it certainly does brighten this corner of the world. Mrs. Grace Martin, chief quilter at Trinity, informs me that there were 7 quilters working on this quilt which was done in six weeks with 290 hours of stitching and love sewn in. We are selling chances on the quilt at $1.00 per chance, available for purchase at the library. The drawing will be held during the auction.

You are invited to stop at the library and droof over the doll house belonging to Tracy Davis; dream and wish fo the antiques in the display case, waiting for the auction; and study and count the smurfs in our exhibit case, borrowed from the Stahovec children.

STATE CAPITOL ROUNDUP

Here is a summary of important events that occurred on Capitol Hill last week from: Rep. Frank Coslett, 120th Legislative District.

THE STAGE was set this week for a compromise on the 1985-86 state budget when the House rejected the Senate's personal income tax plan. House members unanimously defeated the Senate measure which would have reduced the state's personal income tax rate from 2.35 to 2.2 percent. It's expected that the tax plan and budget will be referred to a House-Senate conference committee where a compromise package will be developed. The General Assembly faces a July 1 budget deadline.

THE HOUSE approved a bill requiring public schools in the state to provide military recruiters with the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all graduating seniors. Failure to comply with the proposed law would result in a $100 penalty for each day the schools do not provide the lists. A lengthy debate over the issue occurred on the House floor before the measure passed by a 131-68 vote. Opponents argued that the bill constituted an invasion of privacy. Students must be notified before the lists are distributed, and can have their names omitted by written request.

PLAIN LANGUAGE in consumer contracts would be required by law in Pennsylvania under a bill which passed the House this week and was sent to the Senate for consideration. The bill requires the use of short, understandable words and phrasings in consumer contracts for personal, family or household purposes. Contracts would also have to avoid using technical legal terms, foreign words, obsolete words and other confusing language. Rep. Joseph M. Gladeck Jr. (R-Montgomery) successfully amended the measure to require state lawmakers and agencies to simplify their language in laws, rules and regulations. "I felt it was important that we in state government put our own house in student, I would like to thank the third grade teachers for the excellent choice of a field trip to Inner Harbor, Maryland. This trip provided a very special day for the children. It combined a special class togetherness and an excellent opportunity for learning that is not readily available to all the students. I was fortunate to be a chaperone benefits of the "hands on" activities at the museum and the fascinating exhibits of the aquarium.

Parent thanks teachers for trip

As a parent of a third grade

The teachers had taken the time to study, with the children, the places and things they were going to see. Extensive planning by the teachers provided a trip that was both educational and safe. Although it was a 3½ hour trip, the children didn't seem to mind. Ample chapersiastic children. Again I would like to thank the third grade teachers. Your efforts were successful and appreciated. A special thanks goes also to the PTO for providing the funds to make this trip possible for all. Be assured that the money was well

Crime Watch

DEAR EDITOR:

The Luzerne County Crime Watch Association would like to thank The Dallas Post for its genuine concern for the Communities it serves. The Dallas Post hosted an Introduction to the Neighborhood Watch Program May 16th at the Dallas Senior High School. Judie Mathers and Dotty Martin of The Dallas Post saw the need for a Crime Watch Program within Dallas Borough, and invited communities of the Back Mountain to attend the Program. While the attendance was small, (approximately 40 people) those who attended the meeting were truly concerned community
