Students honored

Thirty one sophomores, representing 38 percent of this class at Wyoming Seminary College Preparatory School, Kingston, recently received certificates of merit by Science Research Associates, Inc., for their achievement in the National Educational Development Test (N.E.D.T.). These students recorded scores in the top 10 percent of all students nationally who took the test. The N.E.D.T. is an achievement test which records aptitude scores in English usage, math usage, social studies, reading and natural science reading. In the first row, from left, are Robin Yuskovitz, Kingston; Liane Kersey, Shavertown; Erin Moore, Shavertown; Nicole DePolo, Shavertown; Laura Churnetski, Kingston; Heather Aponick, Shavertown; Laurie Nelson, Wilkes-Barre; and Michelle Kosenak, Luzerne. Second row, Milissa Sands, Forty Fort; Anastasia Fay, Mountaintop; Paul Bartley, Tunkhannock; Christopher Fehlinger, Ashley; Jeannette Waxmorsky, Plainsville; Jonathan Friedman, Kingston; Valerie Hinko, Hudson; Angela Tama, Towanda; and Amy Rogers, Dallas. Third row, Andrew Kellman, Shavertown; Mark Johns, Wyoming; Scott Minkoff, Kingston; Steven Falkowitz, Wilkes-Barre; and Justin DePasquale, Kingston. Fourth row, Christopher Shenfield, McLean, VA; Robert Budd, Madison, NJ; Milton Mitchell, Dallas; and Derek Gooden, Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. Absent at the time of the photo were Eric Cohen, New York, NY; Kevin Brown, Dallas; and Karen Christensen, Ras Tanura, Saudi Arabia.

Display sponsored

The Dietetic Department of Luzerne County Community College recently sponsored a display by the Dairy, Food and Nutrition Council entitled, "Osteoporosis and You." The display was set in the college's Student Center and was designed to make the college community more aware of the role that calcium plays in maintaining the bones throughout our lifetime. Shown with the display are, from left, Justine P. Arnold, Wilkes-Barre, LCCC dietetic program director; Bruce Neil, Dallas, LCCC hotel and restaurant program chairperson; and Nancy L. Gloman, Mountaintop, LCCC dietetic assistant professor. Luzerne County Community College will begin its first dietetic technician class this summer. The program is a two-year associate degree curriculum designed to prepare students for entry-level dietetic technician positions in hospitals, long-term care facilities, clinics and the school lunch program.

Lecture given

As part of the Social Science and History Department Lecture Series at Luzerne County Community College, Bert Logan, director of the Wyoming Valley Historical Society, recently gave a slide and lecture presentation at the college's Educational Conference Center on the main campus in Nanticoke. Shown before the start of the program are, from left, Dr. William Camp, Dallas, chairperson of Social Science and History Department at LCCC; Robert Janosov, Shavertown, associate professor of history at LCCC; Dr. Sheldon Spear, Shavertown, professor of history; Bert Logan and Robert Mittrick, Dallas, professor of history at LCCC.

JOHN A. FARKAS

Farkas named to position

John A. Farkas has been named Director of Admissions at Keystone Junior College, according to John L. Wighton, Vice President for Development and College Relations.

A Dallas resident, Farkas received his Masters of Science degree in Counselor Education and his Bachelor of Science degree in Secondary Education from the University of Scranton.

During the past five years, Farkas has been employed at Keystone as the Coordinator of Counseling and Academic Advisement and Act 101 counselor. He has also been a counselor for the college's Nokomis program. Prior to joining the institution, he was employed as a counselor at Dallas Senior High School.

Farkas holds memberships in the Northeast Pennsylvania Chapter of the American Association for Training and Development, Luzerne-Lackawanna County Deans Association, N.E. PA Counseling Association and the American Association for Counseling and Development. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Association of Developmental Educators.

According to Farkas, "The next several years present challenges in recruitment and placement of high school students into higher education."
