Castle Inn
 The Castle Inn, Memorial Highway, Dallas, has been serving hungry patrons for many, many years.

Castle pleases diners for more than 50 years

By CHARLOT M. DENMON
 Staff Correspondent

For more than a half a century, area residents have made Castle Inn, located on Memorial Highway, Dallas, their favorite dining place. Diners return time and time again for the restaurant's delicious prime rib which has been on the menu under every ownership.

Today, Alan Roberts, Sr., and his son, Alan, Jr., continue to serve the same quality dinners for which the Castle Inn has been noted over the years.

The rustic, dark paneled grill with its large fieldstone fireplace and highly polished booths and tables, upholstered in dark browns and reds, is a popular dining area with the clientele, as is the cheerful, roomy but homey fireside room off the spacious entrance hall.

The fireside room is ideal for family dinners, special birthdays or small showers, anniversary dinners, or business dinners. Across the hall, the large dining area can accommodate large groups, whether it be a wedding reception, dinner-dance, banquet, or other special parties. A private service bar provides prompt, friendly service to all members of the large groups.

The owners make certain that all diners receive prompt, courteous service whether they are with a large party in the diningroom, or just a party of two or four in the grill. They assure this type of service by having a sufficient number of employees on duty to cover every need.

Waitresses Fran Rismondo and Rene Spare have been employed at the Castle Inn for years and set an excellent example for the large staff the Roberts employ to guarantee "good" service.

Diners should remember, however, that all dinners are prepared to order so enjoy a favorite cocktail, prepared to perfection by mixologist Patricia Jachimowicz.

The Castle Inn menu provides a variety of entrees for diners without confusing them with pages and pages of selections.

Prime rib in small, medium or large portions, steaks, veal parmigian, veal picato, veal marsala, pork chops, poultry, and seafood are traditional entrees on the menu.
