Scouts plan 1986 trip to Savannah, Georgia

By CHARLOT M. DENMON

Ten Lehman Cadette Girl Scouts and their mothers are planning a series of projects to raise the necessary funds for a week's trip to the National Girl Scout House in Savannah, Georgia as well as Patriot's Point, S.C., where they will spend three days on the U.S.S. Yorktown.

Their Cadette Leader, Charlene Cook of Lehman, planned to take the girls since she assumed leadership of Troop 706 which meets at Lehman Junior High and the Lehman Fire Hall.

Mrs. Cook knew that some of the girls would not be able to personally finance the trip so she set the date for June of 1986 in order that, as a group, girls and their parents could work toward raising $325 per girl, thus making it possible for the 10 members of the troop to go. All adults who plan to go with the troop will pay their own way.

Charlene and her committee of mothers have contacted Girl Scout officials, bus companies and motel owners in order to plan an organized agenda for the week's activities.

The group of 20 girls and adults will leave June 12, 1986, by Mertz bus for their destination, stopping first at Patriot's Point, S.C. where they will stay on the Yorktown for three days. While there, Navy officials will take them on two tours, one to Fort Sumter and a second to a site not yet decided on Sunday, before the girls depart for Savannah, Georgia that evening.

When the group arrives in Savannah, they will spend two days at the Juliette Low House, National Girl Scout Center, the original Girl Scout House in the United States. Juliette Low was the founder of Girl Scouting. While there, they will participate in the U.S. Heritage Visit and also take part in a Pinning Ceremony when they will receive the Daisy pin, a pin given only to those Scouts, who visit the Center.

On Tuesday of that week, the girls will leave Savannah and travel by their chartered bus to Busch Gardens, VA where they will stay at a Howard Johnson's motel and visit the Gardens. The group will return from Virginia on Wednesday evening after visiting Busch Gardens.

In order to raise the money for the girls to visit Juliette Low's birthplace, the girls and the adult volunteers have planned numerous fundraising projects, the first a shopping trip to Reading for August 6.

Those persons wishing to go on the trip may send a check for $15, and their reservation to Mrs. Charlene Cook, Box 22, Lehman Center, Lehman, PA 18627 no later than July 26.

The bus will depart from Lehman-Jackson Elementary School, Aug. 6, 7:30 a.m., arrive at Reading Outlet Center at 9:30, where passengers may browse or shop until 1 p.m. From 1 to 4:30 p.m., the bus will be at Vanity Fair and from 4:30 to 5 p.m., shoppers will be able to shop at Danskin. Then all will board the bus to go to Leiby's for dinner, where each person will be responsible for paying for their meal.

The girls will bake Welsh cookies on July 31, to sell at the Lehman Booster Club's Flea Market, Aug. 3, at the Lake-Lehman Senior High School grounds. They will also sell Girl Scout calendars and household items at the flea market.

During September, they will sell Christmas wrap, bows and ribbons and on Sept. 20, the Cadettes will hold a Girl Scout Dance at Lehman Fire Hall.

In October, they will have a spaghetti dinner and also sell pumpkins during the Halloween season. Nothing has been planned for November to-date but on December 1, they will sponsor a breakfast with Santa from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., at the Lehman United Methodist Church.

Charlene, who was a Brownie Girl Scout Leader for four years before assuming leadership of the Cadette Troop, is also Neighborhood Director, working with 21 troops in the Dallas, Lake, Lehman, Sweet Valley and Noxen area. She visited the Juliette Low birthplace two years ago and was so impressed by the Girl Scout Center, she decided it would be a wonderful experience for Cadette age Girls Scouts. Since she has a group of only 10 girls, she thought this was a good time to plan the trip because of the expense involved.

Working with Charlene and the girls are Mary Hynick, Ruth Jones, Beverly Bunney, Polly James, Lolly Larkins and Susan Roese, mothers of the girls.

Lehman school directors approve agenda items

Despite repeated abstentions by Director Edward Mark at the July 9 meeting of the Lake-Lehman School Board, all items on the agenda were approved by the majority of the directors.

Board chairman Joseph "Red" Jones reminded directors of the PSBA Bucknell summer Workshop, July 18-20, the annual conference, Aug. 16-18, in Philadelphia, as well as the schedule of workshops on effective school management, Act 195 update, School Board Institute, Legislative Leadership Conference, employee relations, Region 7 meeting and the Spring Roundup.

All of these are for the benefit of school board members and will be held in Wilkes-Barre with the exception of the school board institute set for Scranton or Danville, and the leadership conference scheduled for Camp Hill.

Byron D. Race, instructor, sent a letter of appreciation for the stipend awarded him by the District, and Bonnie Turchin, PTA representative, sent a letter of appreciation to the District on behalf of the association for the plaques presented for the parents' cooperation with the transportation program.

Director Thomas Williams reported the summer recreation program is running successfully with a total of 37 students taking part at Lake-Noxen, 46 participating at Lehman-Jackson, and 71 students taking part at the senior high school.

The board approved the appointment of Ray Dennis, Sweet Valley, as soccer coach, and James Leiby as his assistant. The board also approved the purchase of soccer materials at a cost of $3,739.39 and accident insurance for the program with Mark abstaining from voting on both of these motions.

Newly-appointed football coach Rich Gorgone was granted permission to begin a physical fitness program for high school students, assisted by Robert Roberts.

Motions by Building and Grounds Chairman Donald Jones to use substitute custodians during the summer to assist regular staff and to fill in for those on vacation; to award bids for paving repairs and replacement work to John Adams and Banks Sealcoat; and to purchase custodial supplies were approved. Directors Alan Keiper voted "no" on the substitute custodians, and Mark abstained on the other two motions.

The next general meeting of the board will be Aug. 13, 8 p.m., in the Lake-Lehman Senior High School auditorium.

Shemanski is appointed

Stan M. Shemanski has been named manager of supply operations-project manager for Commonwealth Communications, a subsidiary of Commonwealth Telephone Enterprises, Inc. Shemanski will be responsible for planning, directing and coordinating the operation of Commonwealth Communications Supply, including the company's customer service, inventory, accounting and advertising. He will also be responsible for the development, coordination and implementation of special corporate projects.

Shemanski, his wife, Theresa, and their two daughters, Mary Barbara and Karen Ann reside in Ashley.
