A BELATED HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Michele Eason, daughter of Carol and Jim Eason, Dallas, who celebrated her 18th birthday July 9. Michele was as surprised and happy as could be with her parents birthday gift, a white convertible. So warm wishes for much happiness, Shelly. I know you are enjoying your new car.

CONGRATULATIONS TO Gerald Wycallis, who was sworn in as the superintendent of the Dallas School District last week. I was so happy to see that the Wycallis family has KINGSBURY relocated to 92 Perrin Avenue. I think living within the school district is the only way the superintendent can really stay on top of things.

BEST WISHES TO A FINE COUPLE, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Flick, Sr., who celebrated their silver wedding anniversary recently. The Flicks were married in the Spring Creem Presbyterian Church, Lemont.

Mrs. Flick is the former Catherine Mullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Mullen, State College, and granddaughter of Clyde A. Mullen, Morris Plains, N.J.

Congratulations to you both.

Ready to depart

Scouts enjoy 50-mile canoe trip

Once in a life time you may get a chance to do a 50-mile white water canoe trek on the upper Delaware River. From June 8 to June 12, the scouts of Troop and Post 232, Dallas, had the opportunity to show their skill in a truly challenging "Super Activity".

On Saturday, June 8, the gear was assembled and, for the next four days, 14 teen aged Explorer Scouts and advisors canoed through the beautiful scenery of the upper Delaware. They camped on islands in the river, amidst a profusion of rarely seen birds and other wildlife. Their greatest excitement came in "shooting" class I and II rapids some of the most challenging on the Delaware.

The Explorer Scouts Lee Williams, Nathan Kelley, Elizabeth Williams, Robert Skursky, John Mitchell, James Strange, Aaron Kelley, Mary Craft, Bob Rowlands, Ron Fitch, Mike Dzanko, Alan Landis, Andy Yencha, Associate Advisor, and Dr. Lee Williams, Post Advisor were well prepared for the trip. Four of the Explorers were trained as Advanced Lifesavers and two Advisors, Yencha and Williams, are Water Safety Instructors.

They have been training for the trip for a year and a half, completing canoeing merit badge or its equivalent and Red Cross Basic Canoeing. In the summer of 1984, the scouts trained every other weekend and took a 30-mile trip on a less demanding stretch of the river in preparation for this trip.

The Explorer Post is a land, sea and air unit which trains on an advanced level in traditional scout skills; camping, lifesaving, first aid, canoeing, survival and other contemporary interests.

The post is sponsored by Gate of Heaven Church, Dallas.

Award presented

Wilkes-Barre General Hospital recently received a Bronze Rainbow Award from the United Way of Wyoming Valley in recognition of the hospital's record breaking 1984 United Way campaign. Hospital employees pledged $50,000 to the United Way, a 43 percent increase over the previous year's campaign. United Way of Wyoming Valley Board President Richard L. Pearsall presented the award to Hospital President Thomas P. Saxton, F.A.C.H.A., an active United Way volunteer who recently completed a three-year term as a member of the United Way of Wyoming Valley's Board of Directors. The Bronze Rainbow Award plaque was hung in the employee dining room with other recognition awards from successful United Way campaigns in the past. Shown during the presentation are, from left, William J. Crossin, Sugar Notch, General Hospital United Way campaign coordinator; Charles J. Reynolds, Back Mountain, executive director, United Way of Wyoming Valley; Richard L. Pearsall, Dallas; Thomas P. Saxton, Kingston.

LCCC offers new course

Residents of Northeastern Pennsylvania will have an opportunity to prepare for a challenging career in telecommunications technology at Luzerne County Community College.

A new course of study leading to an Associate in Applied Science Degree in Telecommunications Technology, is scheduled to begin this fall, and will emphasize training in current telecommunications industry practices through a combination of theory, applied telecommunications courses, and liberal arts studies.

The growth of the telecommunications industry in Northeastern Pennsylvania has resulted in an increased need for trained individuals who can assist in the operations and management of broadcast and closed circuit television systems, radio stations, cable systems, and other state-of-the-art transmission and reception facilities.

LCCC's two-year program is designed to prepare students for such positions as media coordinator, production crew member, broadcast assistant, media programmer, script writer, and videographer.

For further information on the telecommunications technology program, contact the Director of Admissions at Luzerne County Community College, 829-7300.

Woman honored

Luzerne County Reading Council President Karen Trethaway, above left, presented a pin and certificate to Mrs. Carol King, above right of Dallas, to honor her as Member-of-the-Year. Mrs. King, a first grade teacher at Wyoming Seminary Lower School, has served as secretary and treasurer of the Council as well as volunteering to serve as chairperson of several committees related to community literacy projects sponsored by the organization. The Luzerne County Reading Council, an International Reading Association affiliate, is a group of educators and parents devoted to promoting reading proficiency for pleasure and information. The Council implements its goals by disbursing information to the public at its regular meetings and through community projects. For information: L.C.R.C., box 2294, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Brochure available

A free brochure for families is available from the American Institute For Foreign Study Scholarship Foundation, whose offices are in Greenwich, Connecticut and San Francisco. "Host An International Student" describes ways in which families can share America with the world by participating in an exciting intercultural exchange program.

Hundreds of English speaking teenagers from Spain, Germany, Japan and more than 20 other countries are coming to the U.S. this fall to learn first-hand about American life and customs.

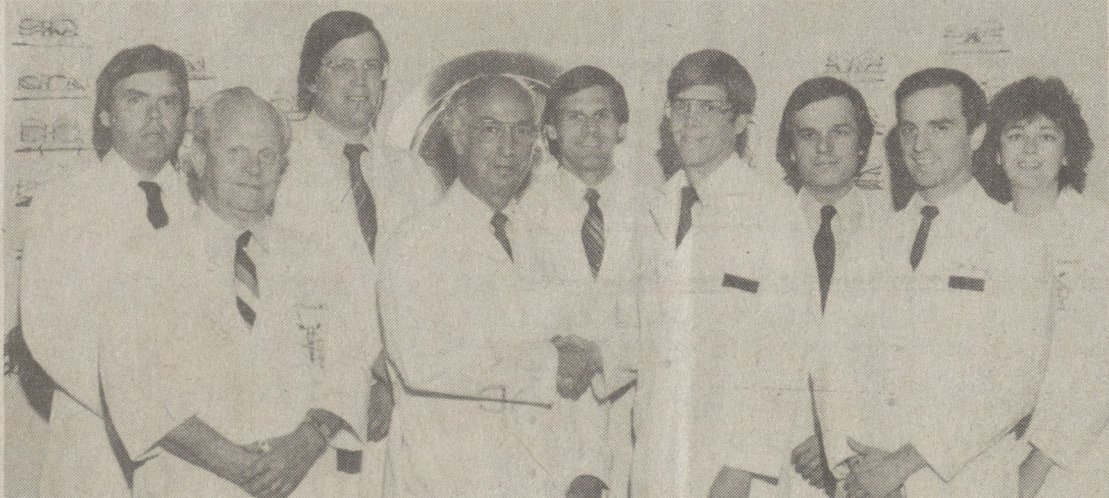

"We encourage families to join this rewarding program by becoming Host Families for these appealing young people," said Paul A. Cook, Executive Director of the Foundation.
