TAKE A BITE OUT OF CRIME

Do you ever have to take care of yourself after school or while your parents are running an errand? Do you have to watch a brother or sister too? You know your parents and I, McGruff, The Crime Dog, want you to be safe. Taking care of yourself is a big responsibility, but you can handle it if you follow these tips:

— Make sure you know how to reach your parents where they work and what to do in case of a fire or other emergencies. Learn all the local emergency phone numbers - fire, police, hot-lines, poison control center - and make sure they're posted near all the phones in your home.

— Be sure you know how to use the telephone correctly-both push-button and dial-and how to make local, long distance and emergency calls, and how to get the operator.

— Check in with your mom or dad or a trusted neighbor as soon as you get home. Make sure you know how to work the door and window locks and lock the door after you come in. — When you're home alone, never open the door for anyone you don't know well or are unsure of. Check the identity of service people by calling their office before letting them in. And don't let unfamiliar callers know that you're alone.

— If you feel you're being followed on your way home from school, don't go home — go to a store, or back to school, or to the nearest "Safe House."

— With your mom and dad, select a place to keep a key or keys and money for lunch or emergency phone calls.

— Never go anywhere with another adult, even one who says he or she has been sent by your parents. You and your parents might want to adopt a secret "code word" as a signal if another adult has to pick you up.

— If anything happens to you while you're alone that makes you feel uncomfortable, tell an adult you trust. Always. Every time.

Local girl to perform in Illinois Showcase

Natalie A. Ziolkowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ziolkowski of Dallas will perform in Summer Dance Showcase at the Kranert Center for the Performing Arts on the campus of the University of Illinois on July 26 and 27, 1985. The dance showcase features the students attending the National Academy of Arts Summer Dance '85 program.

Summer Dance Showcase includes works choreographed by Petrus Bosman, Robert Dicello, Douglas Nielsen, Nat Orr, Mark

Schneider, and Michael Thomas. The students have had the opportunity to work directly with the choreographers since all of the choreographers are serving on the faculty for the summer dance program. Several of the ballets were choreographed specifically for the students of the National Academy of Arts.

The National Academy of Arts is a non-profit, tax-exempt Illinois corporation providing an accredited residential high school for exceptionally gifted students in dance and music and a summer dance program for junior high and senior high school students. The National Academy of Arts also provides numerous training opportunities in dance and music for students in the Champaign-Urbana, Illinois, area.

Natalie is 14 and will be a 9th grade student at the Dallas Jr. High School.

She will be returning to the Wilkes Barre Ballet Theatre this Fall as part of their company.

SHARON DOUGHERTY

Dougherty receives scholarship

Sharon Dougherty, daughter of Harry and Elaine Dougherty, Dallas, has been awarded the 1985 Jaycee Scholarship Award for academic excellence.

She is a 1985 graduate of Dallas Senior High and has been notified that her biography will appear in the Who's Who Among American High School Students for the second consecutive year.

Sharon was a member of the National Honor Society and acting Secretary in her senior year, a representative of the Student Council and was selected to represent her school in her sophomore year at the Hugh O'Brien Seminar in Lancaster as a recognized leader.

She was involved in various sports including Cheerleading for 5 years and was Captain of the squad in her senior year. She played volleyball and was statistician for baseball.

She received the Presidential Academic Fitness Award for 3 consecutive years. She also maintained a 90 plus average for 12 years and graduated in the top fifth of her class.

Sharon will attend Penn State University, State College Campus in the fall of 1985 as a business major.

PUC acts on proposals

The Public Utility Commission (PUC) recently acted on a number of proposals intended to assist customers having difficulty making payments on utility bills.

As a byproduct, the PUC's actions were meant to improve the way electric and natural gas companies handle consumers facing payment problems.

The PUC voted on nearly 20 proposals submitted to it by its Bureau of Consumer Services after receiving comments during informal hearings held throughout the state. The proposals consisted of options applicable to the larger electric and gas companies that are designed to alleviate financial distress, prevent unnecessary terminations, and open up new approaches for dealing with payment troubled customers.

The most significant recommendations approved by the PUC opened the door to reforms which would help curtail high energy consumption. The PUC voted to develop guidelines, for example, which, if eventually adopted, would require utilities to offer low interest loans and weatherization programs targeted to high usage, low income consumers in the utilities' territory.

The PUC also voted to encourage utilities to develop "Cares" programs, in which an employee of the utility works to help customers cut energy use and obtain financial aid.
