

School

Group meets at PSU

Area legislators and Penn State Wilkes-Barre Advisory Board members met recently at the Lehman campus with the school's administrators to discuss plans for the new Center for Technology. The Center will house laboratories with state-of-the-art equipment for those students majoring in engineering and engineering technology and for use by the community in continuing education seminars and for school groups. A campaign to raise funds for the proposed 20,000 square foot building will begin in early 1986. Shown at the meeting are, from left, Fred Shupnik, advisory board member; State Representatives Kevin Blaum and George C. Hasay; Pauly Friedman, board member; Randall Kuzminski, aide to Senator Frank O'Connell; Jim Chester, board member; Representatives Frank Coslett, Scott Chadwick, and Thomas Tighe; and Dr. James Ryan, campus executive officer. Also attending, but not in photo, was Rep. Stanley Jarolin.

Misericordia offers children's courses

College Misericordia is offering several children's non-credit programs throughout August.

Two French camps for children will be held August 5 through 9. Section one will be held 10 a.m. to noon, for grades 3 to 4. Section two will be held from 1 to 3 p.m., for grades 5 to 6. Instructor Diane Polachek will provide an introduction to the French language.

A pre-school camp for children, age 3 to 5, will be held August 5 through 9, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Instructors Donna Lehman and Rosemary Evans have a variety of fun and educational activities planned.

"Kids Caligraphy," for students, age 7 to 17, will be held August 6, 13, and 20, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Instructor Maureen Engle will teach caligraphy techniques enabling participants to complete three professionally used alphabets and a project of their own choice.

"Doing Better in High School," is the topic of the program for students grades 9 to 12. The course will be conducted on Thursday, Aug. 8, from 6 to 9 p.m. Instructor Joseph Rogan will cover introduction to study techniques, note taking strategies, and test preparation and test-taking.

Section two of a computer camp for students grades 7 to 12 will be held on Aug. 12 through 16, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Instructor Joseph Nalbene will discuss programming, software use, artificial intelligence and the sound and graphic capabilities of the IBM PC.

"Ceramic and Bead Jewelry," for students 6 to 10 years is scheduled August 12 and 19, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Instructor Janice Kiwak will help participants design and paint a pendant from bakers clay which will be attached to a beaded jewelry string.

"Study Skills for the Intermediate Grade Student," for grades 4 to 6 will be held on August 13, 15, 20 and 22 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Instructor Diane Polachek has designed the course to present a system of study to help students achieve their highest level of capability. Among the topics to be covered are listening and concentrating, organizational skills, previewing, note taking, outlining, and test preparation and test taking.

For registration information and a free brochure detailing non-credit summer offerings for children and adults call the College Misericordia Office of Special Programs at 675-2181, ext. 331.

LCCC offers new course

A two-year associate degree program in Human Services will be offered by Luzerne County Community College this fall.

The new curriculum, which was designed to compliment the college's Social Sciences courses presently being offered and serve as the core of the new program, will prepare students for a variety of positions within the human service profession.

Through a combination of classroom instruction and practical experience, graduates of the program will be qualified for career opportunities within Menat Health, Mental Retardation, and DRug and Alcohol agencies, hospitals, nursing homes, and adult day-care centers.

Specifically those positions include Human Service Aide, Geriatric worker, Mental Health Aide, Social Service worker, Treatment Specialist, Youth Service worker, Interviewer, and Caseworker.

Students enrolled in the Human Services program at LCCC will be required to participate in a field experience. Individuals will be placed throughout the area in hospitals, nursing homes, and human service agencies to obtain first-hand experience.

Local human service agencies were surveyed prior to the establishment of the program. The results of the recent survey indicate that an interest exists in the development of such a curriculum and a willingness to assist with the program. The positive response from the local human service agencies played a key role in the creation of the new Human Services curriculum.

For further information on the new program at Luzerne County Community College contact Dr. Ann Williams, Social Science Department, 829-7300.

Lake-Lehman announces changes in meal policy

The Lake-Lehman School District announces a change in the 1985-86 Free and Reduced Price Meal and Free Milk Policy for children unable to pay the full price.

Children of parents and guardians who are unemployed, or become unemployed, are eligible for free and reduced price meals or for free milk during the period of unemployment, provided that the period of unemployment causes your family income to fall within the eligibility criteria.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for those benefits. If families have such children and wish to apply for such meals and milk, they should contact the school. They may do so by completing the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available from the sponsor.

Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form requests information that officials need to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family.

Required information includes: social security numbers of household members over 21 years of age, the signature of the adult responsible for completing the application, the names of all household members and the income of all household members.

If the household income increases or decreases by more than $50 per month ($600 per year) or when the household size changes the sponsor must be notified in order to determine a change in eligibility.

The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the determining of eligibility. Neither the names nor the incomes will be released.

The parent must also certify that all of the information is true and correct to the best of their knowledge and belief. The application is made in connection with the receipt of federal funds. Deliberate misrepresentation of the information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable state and federal criminal statutes.

The information on the application may be checked by the school or other officials at anytime during the school year.

Children who receive free or reduced price meal benefits are treated the same as children who pay for meals. In the operation of child nutrition programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, age or handicap. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Under provisions of the policy, the Superintendent will review applications and determine eligibility.

If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official, he or she may request, orally or in writing, M. David Preston, Ph.D., Lake-Lehman School District, Lehman, PA 18627, 675-2165, for a hearing to appeal the decision. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy.

A complete copy of the policy may be reviewed by any interested party in the sponsor's office.

PSU has ice cream course

Ice cream manufacturers must be concerned with product quality, consumer acceptance, and economic costs to realize a profit as well as maintain the fine reputation the ice cream industry has developed. Ice cream's composition, ingredients, flavor, taste, and appearance make the difference between success and failure in marketing. Competition from novelty frozen desserts, aggressive advertising from the foods industry, and modern food processing innovations must be understood for successful processing and marketing.

Dr. Philip G. Keeney of Penn State University, well-known in the field of dairy science, authors a Correspondence Coures 102, Ice Cream Manufacture, to meet the needs of small and large ice cream manufacturers. The course discusses the composition and ingredients used in ice cream; modern equipment, blending, freezing, whipping, and hardening methods; flavors and labeling requirements; ices and sherbets.

To order a copy of this 12-lesson course, send $10.75, including handling, to Ice Cream Manufacture, Dept. 5000, University Park, PA 16802. Make check payable to Penn State.
