

Cheering the Phillies

Members of the Dallas Kiwanis Club are shown seated along with an estimated 500 other Pennsylvania Kiwanis members at Veterans Stadium, Philadelphia this past Saturday afternoon. The Dallas Kiwanians participated in a "Kiwans Club Day" at the Vet in an effort to raise money for children's medicine and research at the Geisinger Medical Center in Danville. Kiwanians attending the game against the Atlanta Braves, which the Phils won 5 - 4, paid $6 for their tickets. A $1.50 of the ticket price was donated by the Philadelphia Phillies to the Geisinger Medical Center.

Parents honored

Lake-Lehman School District recognizes parent groups by presenting plaques to officers for their support, cooperation and understanding of the school district's transportation system. Board members Donald J. Jones, transportation coordinator, assisted by Daniel Hudzik, education coordinator, made the presentation at the special board meeting recently. Pictured here, from left, are Anthony Marchakitus, Assistant to the Superintendent; Donald J. Jones, Board Transportation Coordinator; Bonnie Turchin, President, Lehman-Jackson PTA; Debbie Noon, President, Lake-Noxen PTA; Daniel S. Hudzik, Education Coordinator; Rita Stefanowicz, President, Junior High PTSA; Judy Scavone, President, Ross PTO.

Dallas Post/Charlot M. Denmon

Prize catch

Leonard Groboski of Sunset Avenue, Dallas, holds the 27 inch rainbow trout he caught at Harveys Lake, early last Thursday morning, while fishing in an area near Our Lady of Victory Church. The 27 inch trout weighed seven pounds and was only half inch short of the state record. Leonard was using miniature marshmallows as bait.

Colonial

(Continued from page 20)

Wyoming Ave., Wyoming or Sir Rib, Route 115, East End Boulevard, Wilkes-Barre. All three restaurants offer the same friendly service wide variety of good food.

In addition, the restaurants offer catering for all occasions whether a wedding, shower, banquet, graduation or funeral gathering. Michael Solomon, proprietor, is in charge of the Solomon's Catering, on or off the premises at 2001 Wyoming Ave., Wyoming.

Whether shopping at the Narrows or Gateway, Midway Shopping Center, or Wyoming Valley Mall, a Colonial Pancake House & Restaurant or the Sir Rib is nearby to serve you breakfast, lunch or dinner. Hungry after a late night of bowling, or an evening on the town, the restaurant at Kingston Corners is open round-the-clock with a full menu. It is never too early or late for breakfast nor for lunch or dinner. Stop in, you'll probably meet some of your friends there.

The Wyoming restaurant is open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Sir Rib from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. You'll find the same, friendly service at any one of them.

Cubs take trip

Cub Scout Pack 155 of Trucksville recently went on a field trip to Philadelphia where they toured the Franklin Institute and took in a Phillies vs. St. Louis game. Scouts who attended were Jeff Sands, Brian Jayne, Ned Palka, Bill Dover, Eric Stogoski, Steve Hoover, Jeff Malak, Frank Natitus, Billy Johnson, Fran Hoover, Jim Reynolds, Dave Larkins, Chris Repotski, Corey Moyer, Brian Matosky, Bill Bullock, Doug Bullford, Silas Fernandez, Teddy Kerpovich, Jason Reynolds, Jarred Cooney, Mike Lycon, Robbie Ricker, Mike Banta, Adam Hoover, Dan Natitus, and Eddie Williams. The Cub Scouts wish to thank community members for purchasing candy bars during their fund-raising drive to make this trip possible.

Jenkins honored

David J. Jenkins of Shavertown, an agent with The Prudential Insurance Company's Wilkes-Barre District, sold over $3.3 million of insurance during 1984, qualifying for the company's Award of Honor.

Jenkins, who began his Prudential career in 1964, has qualified for several company and industry awards for excellence in sales and service including the National Sales Achievement Award. He has also qualified for 16 of Prudential's annual regional business conferences.

Jenkins, who has participated in the Life Underwriters Training Council, is currently working toward his Chartered Life Underwriter designation.

Fall Fair grounds renovated

Extensive renovations are currently underway to make the 1985 Luzerne County Fair the best and most successful since it began 17 years ago. The fair, scheduled from Wednesday, Sept. 4, to Sunday, Sept. 8, provides five days of live entertainment, hobby arts and crafts and 4-H entries and exhibits, hundreds of commercial exhibitors and food concessions, and thrilling rides by S&S Amusements, for over 40,000 people who attend annually. Hours are Wednesday to Friday, 5 p.m. to 11 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday 9 a.m. to midnight.

The grounds committee, chaired by Robert Bayer, Dallas, has approved the leveling of an additional eight acres of land, three for the expansion of the amusement ride midway, and five for more commercial exhibitor space and the erection of a permanent horse show arena. The new horse show ring, approximately 150'x300', will provide a location for the 4-H and other community groups to hold horse and livestock shows.

Earlier in July, over 50 people representing the nine 4-H groups in Luzerne County spent numerous hours clearing rocks from the arena area. From July 8 to 20, the Luzerne County Road and Bridge Department, under the direction of the County Commissioners, graded the eight acres of land for seeding. Also helping were Dallas Boro, Dallas Twp. and Lehman Township Road Departments.

Enjoying camp

Cub Scouts of Pack 155, Trucksville, attended day camp at Frances Slocum State Park last week. They had a week full of games, crafts, archery, swimming, nature hikes. Scouts who attended were Quinn Kavanaugh, Dean Evans, Ned Friar, J.P. Cosgrove, Harold Roberts, Kevin McGovern, Ben Sappe, Mike Koch, Greg Shoening, Dan Natitus, Eddie Williams, Adam Hoover, Charlie Malpass, Mike Banta, Bill Bullock, Brian Matosky, Chris Repotski, Jason Reynolds, Teddy Kerpovich, Corey Moyer, Robbie Ricker, Jarred Cooney, Mike Lycon, Jimmy Reynolds and Brian Jayne.

Home repairs book is now available

Leaking faucets, broken window panes and cracked walls are just a few of the common problems that try the patience and pocketbook of homeowners and those who rent. Most of these problems are too small for a contractor.

However, most of these repairs are easier than they appear to the novice. To remedy this lack of knowledge and expertise, a booklet has been issued that provides simple, step-by-step, illustrated directions for performing simple home repairs - with clear, precise basic instructions that can make a person who considers himself "all thumbs" into a competent do-it-yourself. It's the next best thing to having an in-person expert teaching you.

What to look for in diagnosing a repair problem, the tools and particular materials you'll need to fix it and how to go about it all are simply stated with easy-to-understand drawings.

In addition to faucets, window panes and walls, the booklet has information on simple electrical repairs, how to fix screens and storm windows, simple plumbing repairs, and making problem doors and drawers work properly.

Other sections deal with the use of basic tools and types and applications of nails, screws and bolts.

The booklet should save lots of money on repair bills. In addition you'll probably find most jobs take less time to finish that it does to locate a competent repairman willing to do the work. And the savings are substantial.

SMALL HOME REPAIRS MADE EASY is available from the CONSUMER EDUCATION RESEARCH CENTER, a non-profit consumer group. To obtain a copy send $3 (this includes postage) to CERC, 439 Clark Street, South orange, N.J. 07079.

New president

Mrs. Pat Rosenthal, left, outgoing president of the League of Women Voters, is shown handing the gavel of office to the League's president for 1985-86, Mrs. Arthur Evans.

Junior League concludes year

The Junior League of Wilkes-Barre recently held its final business meeting of the 1984-85 year at the Westmoreland Club in downtown Wilkes-Barre. Mrs. Pat Rosenthal, outgoing League president, conducted the meeting, which was preceded by a cocktail hour and dinner.

Established in 1934, the League is a non-profit organization that supports other local non-profit agencies and services with financial assistance, administrative guidance, and volunteer services. Mrs. Rosenthal has presided over two of the League's most challenging and rewarding of its history.

During this time, the League noted its 50th anniversary year with the sponsorship of the area's first Decorator Show House. Over a 22-day span the house, located on Sutton Road in Shavertown and renovated by some of the area's finest decorators, was toured by over 4,200 people and $44,000 was raised. These proceeds were part of a $50,000 contribution made to the United Way of Wyoming Valley for the establishment of the county's first Volunteer Action Center. The agency opened its door in December of 1984 and actively coordinates and supports volunteer activities throughout the county.

Over $11,000 was also contributed to several local agencies during the past two years through grant awards from the League's Community Trust Fund. In 1985, the organization established its infant and toddler car seat program, Project K.I.S.S., which provides legally required seats to residents within Luzerne County on a rental basis. Over $3,000 was recently raised during a two-day art show and sale sponsored by the League and the Marquis Art Gallery, funds which will be used to maintain the project.

Mrs. Rosenthal resides in Dallas with her husband, Richard, and their two children, Liza and Stephen. Though her time-consuming duties as League president are over, Mrs. Rosenthal won't be any less busy come fall. A substitute teacher for several years, in September Mrs. Rosenthal will be a full-time instructor of health and physical education at Wyoming Seminary Day School in Forty Fort, teaching children in the kindergarten through 8th grade classes.