Slocum State Park sets nature program

This fall Frances Slocum State Park Naturalist Jeff Smith has invited all young people age 9 through 17 to become actively involved in Pennsylvania's natural resources.

The park will sponsor a Junior Naturalist Program, and the Conservation Award Program.

The Junior Naturalist Program

offers conservation minded young people aged nine to 13 the opportunity to learn about the environment, and how to protect it. To join is easy, all you have to do is fill out an application, it's that simple. Once you're a member, one can learn and earn patches at the same time, while enjoying the outdoors.

The Conservation Program is for 14 to 17 year olds, who would like to learn more about the environment. If you enjoy the outdoors, and someday might pursue a job in the conservation field, then you would be ideally suited for the State Parks Conservation Award.

These programs are open to any conservation minded young person, and more information can be had by calling Jeff Smith at 696-3525.

Bank offers new service that pays bills by phone

Merchants Bank has introduced a new way to pay bills by phone, wherever customers are 24 hours a day. Effective Sept. 1, Home Banking is available to customers throughout Northeastern Pennsylvania.

According to William V. Leandri, Senior Vice President, "Home Banking is an electronic age banking convenience, with a personal touch and complete confidentiality."

By simply placing a toll free call, a customer can talk with a special representative from Merchants Home Banking Center. That representative takes the personal security number and account number of the customer (assigned when they apply) and the information about payments requested. After 4:30 p.m. a tape recorder will take customer transaction information for next day processing.

There will be no service charge for Merchants Bank's Home Banking through Dec. 31. After that date, a monthly fee of $1 will allow Home Banking customers to pay as many bills as they wish.
