LAKE-LEHMAN SCHOOL NEWS

SUSIE REDMOND

THOMAS STEPANSKI

THE LAKE-LEHMAN BLACK KNIGHTS evened their record 1-2-2 on Saturday, Sept. 21, with a 7-0 win over the Hanover Area Hawkeys.

The game was a defensive battle, with neither team putting together a very successful offensive day. Lehman, however, did have a long drive with two pass receptions by Jeff Ruzicki and Chris Landmesser, along with a touchdown plunge by Jeff Martin. Although winning the game, Lehman lost starting tailback, Bill George, due to a back injury.

On Saturday, Sept. 28, the Black Knights will host the Bishop O'Reilly Queensmen in Lehman's Homecoming game.

ON TUESDAY, OCT. 22, Lake-Lehman Juniors will have the opportunity to familiarize themselves with the testing format also used on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT). The SAT is a prerequisite for many college-bound students, said Miss Bator of the school guidance staff.

The PSAT-NMSQT measures verbal and mathematical abilities. Through the PSAT-NMSQT students are selected for the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Program which enables talented students to compete for scholarships. In addition, students can use the test as a guide to see how they ranked nationally among other students. Upon registration in the Guidance Office, students will receive a Student Bulletin containing a complete sample test with an answer key and scoring instructions. The registration fee is $5.

PAUL ANDES is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Andes Of Shavertown.

He is active in basketball and he also enjoys reading and traveling.

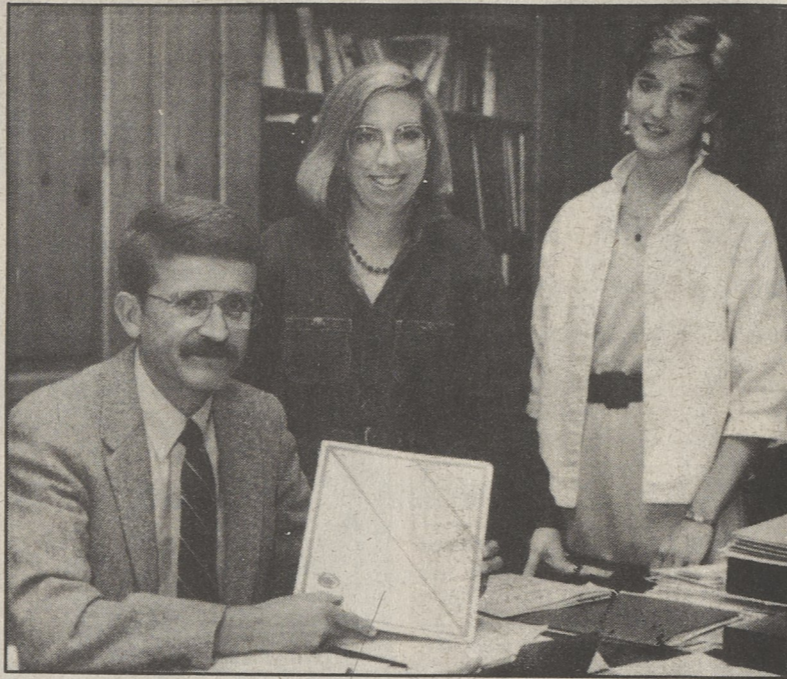

Paul's high scholastic achievements have enabled him to be a member of the National Honor Society. His future plans include college, majoring in corporate law.

JEFF AUSTIN is the son of Charles and Lynne Austin of Harveys Lake. Jeff is most well-known at Lehman for his wrestling excellence.

Last wrestling season, Jeff took fifth place at State Competition in Hershey. Jeff, not only a fine wrestler, is a fine student as well. He is currently carrying an "A" average in a challenging academic schedule.

Jeff has a brother, Chip, and a sister, Gail.

Hunting and fishing are some of Jeff's spare-time interests. His future plans include college, with a possible major in biology.

Directory finished

PSU offers program

"How would you like to help kids in their selection of a career?"

That was the question posed by John Murphy, director of student programs and services at Penn State Wilkes-Barre, to Penn State alumni who live within a 25 mile radius of the campus in Lehman.

In 175 cases, the answer came back a resounding "Yes" and the result is a Career Information directory which has already proved its worth for college students. Soon it will be made available to high school and junior high school guidance counselors.

According to Murphy, the directory gives names, phone numbers, and the specific type of help offered by the alumni. Some of them make themselves available for phone conferences, he said, while some will invite students to their workplaces. Other have agreed to come to campus to give their valuable insights to groups of students.

As a matter of fact, five of the engineering alumni took part in a career development program on Friday, September 20, on campus.

Patricia G. O'Neill, an advisor-counselor in the University's Center for Individual Development, is in charge of the program. She noted that this is one of a series, a "career exploration series," she is producing for the students.

She said that the programs are open to the public and that anyone who is interested in the information provided is welcome to attend. There is no charge.

She added that she had made use of the directory to locate Penn State alumni to speak at the program on September 20 and intended to make use of it to obtain alumni help for each of the succeeding career development programs.

This time around, the subject is engineering, she said and noted that the following Penn State graduate engineers would be at Hayfield House to give insights into their specialties: Duane Karchner, reactor engineer, PP&L - nuclear engineering; Thomas Ronginson, district manager, Bell of PA - industrial engineering; Joseph Buczynski, quality control engineer, PP&L - civil engineering; and Michael Ferko, environmental engineer, PA Bureau of Abandoned Mines - environmental engineering.

Dallas Band wins honors

The Dallas Are Marching Band took first place honors in Group II competition at Nanticoke. The band also won special awards for percussion, music and marching.

This was the first competition for the band this year. Their next appearance will be on Saturday, Sept. 28 in Northampton, Pa.

The award winning band is under the direction of David C. Benn, silk instructor and front coordinator Joan Benn, swing flag instructors, Leslie and Lori Del Gaudio, strutter instructor Leigh Ann Schoner and marching and maneuvering Lisa Sigman. Drum major is Kiersten Fries.

The pride, dedication and commitment that these students have, not only for others but for themselves as well, make them true champions.

will assist in making the hoagies.

HOMEROOM REPRESENTATIVES for the Student Council will be elected soon.

THE FIRST MEETING in preparation for admission into the Middle States was held at Marywood College last week. Members of the steering committee, Mrs. Rutkoski, Miss Wysocki, and Mr. Simon as well as our Principal Sister Davida attended.

STUDENT OF THE WEEK:

Maria Bigus our first eighth grader to be interviewed, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bigus of Elmcrest. Maria is co-captain of the cheering squad. She enjoys playing the piano, as well as her cheerleading activities. Her favorite school subject is spelling. In the future, Maria would like to be a doctor.

THE DIOCESAN SCHOOL OFFICE has proclaimed September 27, as "Monsignor Paul F. Terracciano Day" throughout the Scranton Diocesan school system. A special liturgy will be celebrated on that day in each school to give every student an opportunity to pray for, and honor our former school superintendent. Personal notes and expressions of continued concern and prayer for him are suggested as ways of showing our gratitude and love.

SISTER ALICE ANN AND SISTER CATHERINA are happy to report that the first graders are off to a good start. The children are presently learning the alphabet and numbers as they prepare for independent reading and math. They are starting science classes for the first time under the direction of Mrs. Wolverton.

THE SECOND GRADE STUDENTS began their Year in science by study of rocks. They learned how to identify sedimentary rocks which are found in this area. They also observed a live rabbit and a hermit crab in their classroom.

STUDENTS IN GRADES SIX AND SEVEN will attend the Luzerne County Fall Festival to be held at the Armory in Kingston from Oct. 17-20. Projects, drawings and paintings will be entered by the students in categories such as Heritage and Celebration.

ALL OF MR. WALUTE'S Social Studies Classes will be entering the Channel 16 Newswatch game.

THE STUDENTS IN THE EIGHTH GRADE science class are involved in the Channel 16 Weather-watcher program. The winners will receive rain gauges. Best of luck to win some of the 400 prizes.

THE EIGHTH GRADERS are busy with several new projects. They welcome the opportunity of learning to type in Mrs. Read's weekly class. They have begun preparation and practice for the reception of the Sacrament of Confirmation which will be conferred by Bishop Timlim at Gate of Heaven Church, Nov. 8.

A popcorn sale last week initiated their drive for funds to finance their class trip at graduation time. They are presently preparing for a hoagie sale on Oct. 5, in which the mothers

Scouting Offers Education

One of the ongoing services the Scranton Pocono Girl Scout Council, a United Way agency, provides for its adult volunteers is continuing education. Basic and advanced training courses in troop programs and management, leadership, outdoor skills and troop camping are conducted year-round by the council staff and qualified volunteer trainers.

The two-part "Introduction to Leadership" course for leaders, assistant leaders and troop committee members will be conducted this fall at several locations in the five and one-half counties served by the council: September 28 at the United Methodist Church, Montrose; October 5 at Central Methodist Education Building, Honesdale; October 12 at the United Methodist Church, Tunkhannock; November 2 at the Fire Hall, Tannersville; and November 9 at the council office in Scranton.
