LAST WEEK'S ANSWER

Your Social Security

Medicare health insurance, including both hospital and medical insurance, is available to people in the Wilkes-Barre area who have permanent kidney failure and who need kidney dialysis treatment or a kidney transplant, Thomas Lavelle, Social Security manager in Wilkes-Barre said recently.

A person, regardless of his or her age, who need dialysis or a transplant because of permanent kidney failure is eligible for Medicare if he or she:

- Worked long enough to be insured under Social Security, or
- Already gets Social Security benefits, or
- Is the husband, wife, or dependent child of someone insured or getting benefits.

Medicare coverage for an eligible person generally begins on the first day of the third month after the month the person starts receiving maintenance dialysis treatment.

Medicare coverage can begin the first month of a course of dialysis treatments if the person takes part in a self-dialysis training program in an approved facility before the third month of dialysis and the person expects to complete training and self-dialyze afterwards.

Coverage can also begin the month the person is admitted to an approved hospital for a kidney transplant or preliminary procedures for a transplant if the transplant takes place that month or within two months.

Medicare coverage generally ends 12 months after the month a person no longer needs maintenance dialysis or 36 months following a kidney transplant.

For more information about Medicare coverage because of permanent kidney failure, call or write the Wilkes-Barre Social Security office located at Room 2227, 20 N. Pennsylvania Ave. The telephone number is 826-6371.

Credit Unions note International Day

The 65 credit unions in the Wyoming Valley Chapter of the Pennsylvania Credit Union League will celebrate International Credit Union Day at 5:30 p.m. Saturday (Oct. 19) at Genetti's Best Western, Wilkes-Barre.

"This year is special as we recognize our credit unions' younger members," said Chapter president Francis J. Wallace, noting that the theme for the occasion is "Credit Union Youth - Our Next Generation." This ties in with the United Nations designation of 1985 as International Youth Year.

"We will host our annual Chapter Youth Ambassador Contest on Saturday which highlights the knowledge and talents of our younger members," Wallace said. "Our representative will then participate in the Credit Union Youth Ambassador of Pennsylvania Contest."

Wyoming Valley Chapter credit unions serve 54,261 member and more than $83,765,859 in assets.

Pennsylvania Credit Union League president Michael J. Judge sent congratulations to the Chapter.

"Credit unions care about their young members," Judge said. "Young people are an important part of the credit union family. Teaching them the principles of thrift and money management is necessary and commendable in this day and age."

Governor Dick Thornburgh officially proclaimed October 13-19 as Credit Union Week in the Commonwealth and urged Pennsylvanians to pay tribute to the 1,350 consumer-owned financial institutions in the state. Thornburgh said the International Credit Union Day theme was "particularly appropriate" as credit unions call attention to tomorrow's leaders and their participation in the credit union movement.

Credit unions play a vital role in today's economy by teaching consumers to be financially independent through regular saving and careful borrowing. The Pennsylvania Credit Union League provides educational, promotional and legislative assistance for the Commonwealth's 1,350 state and federally chartered credit unions.
