New business connects us with New York City

By KATHY SUDA
Staff Correspondent

If you've been shopping for clothes lately and can't seem to find anything new or different, or if you just don't have a wallet big enough to afford good, quality clothing, then you've been shopping everywhere except the New York Connection.

The New York Connection, located at 24 Orchard St. in Dallas, is just what its name says - your New York connection in clothing.

Owner Mary Cervasio was one a paralegal in New York and worked closely with clothing manufacturers and distributors. After moving to this area, those connections are what gives Cervasio the advantage in buying her stock. She is allowed to buy one-of-a-kind, and samples in different styles and colors, and sell them at the New York Connection for around half the price of other local stores and boutiques.

The New York Connection has clothing in sizes 3 to 22 for everyone from teens to grandmothers, and always with a savings.

There are two-piece sets made in India, handmade sweaters from Israel and Equador, sequined outfits, shaker tops in a dozen colors and even sweaters for men, all at prices that will make you smile. Cervasio's motto in buying stock for her boutique is,

"If I can't sell it for a lot less than somebody else, then I don't buy it." In fact, Cervasio said, she doesn't need to run special sales because her stock is discounted everyday.

One added advantage offered at The New York Connection is that, if there is an outfit that you like, that you need in a different color or size, Cervasio will try to purchase it for you on her weekly shopping trips to New York. If you aren't pleased with what she brings back, there is no obligation to buy because Cervasio will simply put the item for sale in the boutique.

In the future, Cervasio would like to expand her men's clothing stock to include suits.

The New York Connection is located on Orchard Street which is directly across the highway from Hess's Gas Station. The boutique is open Tuesday through Thursday, 11 to 6 and Friday and Saturday, 10 to 5. Evening hours are by appointment only. Mastercard and Visa are accepted and Gift Certificates are available.

Gertrude Hawk acquires Elliott Chocolate company

Elmer R. Hawk, president of Gertrude Hawk Chocolates of Dunmore, has announced the acquisition of Helen Elliott Chocolates, based in North Plainfield, N.J.

Gertrude Hawk Chocolates was founded in Gertrude Hawk's East Scranton kitchen in 1936. Today it is headquartered in Dunmore in a 75,000 sq. ft. manufacturing plant. The firm employs over 185 people to produce more than 20,000 lbs. of chocolates a day. Another 50 people are employed in their retail shops which stretch from Wilkes-Barre to Syracuse, N.Y.

The acquisition of Helen Elliott Chocolates will consist of a factory located in N. Plainfield, N.J. and 7 retail shops to give Gertrude Hawk Chocolates a total of 16 stores. The New Jersey stores acquired are in

N. Plainfield, Westfield, Union, Paramus, Millburn, Chatham and Morristown. Helen Elliott employs over 60 people in the stores and factory. They will continue to carry a variety of chocolates produced in the North Plainfield factory, as well as a selection of Gertrude Hawk Chocolates.

According to Mr. Hawk: "Gertrude Hawk Chocolates has been available in New Jersey through fund-raising organizations for 30 years, and we feel there is a ready market for our products. We look forward to introducing some of the products we have pioneered, such as Smidgens, Truffles and Peanut Butter Meltaway Cups. We look forward to combining the best of our products with the best of theirs."

Jamesway aids Foundation

The Jamesway Corporation, whose Headquarters is located in Secaucus, has announced a special promotion to benefit the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

According to Sales Promotion Coordinator Richard Baron, anyone having their picture taken with Santa Claus at Jamesway locations throughout the area on Nov. 23, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. can help fight birth defects. The $2.49 fee per photo will be donated to the March of Dimes, Northeastern Pa. Chapter programs of research, education and medical services will benefit from the campaign.

Each year 250,000 infants are born with mental or physical birth defects. They disable and quite often kill. With the support of organizations such as Jamesway, the March of Dimes is striving toward the elimination of this nation's most serious child health problem.

"Jamesway employees are looking forward to the promotion," said Gary Early, Manager of the Jamesway store in the Luzerne Shopping Center. "All of us are deeply concerned about birth defects and how we can help the March of Dimes prevent them."

Prizes available

Top instant prizes totalling $900,000 remain to be won in the 7-11-21 instant game, Lottery Executive Director Blair R. Gettig announced recently.

"There's only a little over two weeks of sales left in the game, but 18 prizes of $50,000 are still available for 7-11-21 players to win," Gettig said.

He noted that these $1 instant tickets can be purchased at over 8,100 Pennsylvania Lottery retailers throughout the Commonwealth.

Players can determine instantly if they are winners by gently rubbing off the three coored play spots on a 7-11-21 ticket. If the three numbers revealed under the play spots add up to 7, 11 or 21, the player wins the prize shown in the prize box.

"For a $50,000 prize, 21 is the number that adds up to a lot of cash," Gettig added.
