

Picnic held

The Dallas Rotary Club held its annual family picnic at Irem Temple Country Club last month. Many members have small children who enjoyed the entertainment provided by the Irem Temple Clown Unit and Cosmic Louie and Faye. Shown in the

Kingston Twp. Safety Department offers tips

With the cold weather upon us and the increased use of supplemental heating devices to decrease the cost of home heating the Kingston Township Department of Fire Safety and Prevention would like to offer the following safety tips to Township residents.

Solid fuel burning devices: 1. Check with local fire and building codes for proper clearance and requirements before installation of heating units and chimneys. 2. Check chimneys periodically for build up of creosote and have your chimney professionally cleaned at least once a heating season. 3. Never use papers or gasoline to start a wood burning stove - kindling works best. 4. Most effective fuels are seasoned hardwoods such as oak, maple, elm and birch.

Electric Space Heaters: 1. Be sure your heater is U.L. listed and adequate wiring and outlets are available. 2. Keep at least three feet of space around heater. 3. Look for heaters with thermostat control that shuts off when overheated and a tip-over switch that turns off the heater if it should tip over.

Kerosene Heaters: 1. Once again be sure your heater is U.L. Listed. 2. Use only water-clear kerosene - never use gasoline. 3. Only refuel heaters outside and never store flammable liquids indoors. 4. Make sure of proper ventilation in rooms being heated by kerosene heaters. 5. Maintain at least a three foot clearance around heater.

For the past several years national statistics have shown a drastic increase in fire losses caused by supplemental heating devices. Unfortunately this trend can also be seen here in Kingston Township with most fires handled by the two Township Fire departments during the cold season, being caused by supplemental heating devices. However, with your help, we hope to reverse this trend and make Kingston Township a safer place to live.

For any further information on Township Fire Codes or Fire Safety Material feel free to contact the Department of Fire Safety and Prevention at 696-3809 or 696-3800.

Major studios and leading independent movie production companies will release a record number of motion pictures. The genres such as costume drama and the animated feature are making a comeback, while horror and sci-fi pictures are on a decline.

What is unusual is that seven out of every 10 movie releases have been shot outside California. Movie enthusiasts can expect to see the usual credits of reputable directors as William

WYSOCKI

Friedkin, Robert Altman, Richard Attenborough and Steven Spielberg.

The movies will also showcase the acting talents of such box-office favorites as Meryl Streep, Sally Field, Jane Fonda, Robert Redford, Al Pacino and Richard Pryor. The Christmas movie-release period, the second highest-grossing period of the year, officially commences on Nov. 27 (Thanksgiving Weekend).

MGM-UA's Production of "Rocky IV" will debut on Nov. 27, along with "White Nights" starring Mikhail Baryshnikov and produced by Columbia. On Dec. 6, the comedy "Spies Like Us," which stars Chevy Chase and Dan Aykroyd will be released to movie theaters. A week later, another comedy "The Money Pit," a Universal Production featuring Tom Hanks and Shelley Long, will be released.

Fox's "Jewel of the Nile," playing Dec. 18, will hopefully attract movie-goers. Movie releases would not be complete without Disney Productions, and this year Disney offers motion picture fans "101 Dalmatians" (Dec. 20). Movie viewers can also look forward to a Paramount Production of "Young Sherlock Holmes," which is scheduled as a Christmas release.

Check presented

Paul and Betty Parrish of Idetown are seen presenting a check for the entire restoration of the office waiting room of the Idetown UMC. The room was dedicated in memory of Helen Irene Kreidler, born in Lopez, on Oct. 28, 1903 and passed away on March 23, 1985. Shown here, from left, are Rev. Michael Shambora, Mr. Reginald Beck, construction; Paul Parrish, Mrs. Betty Parrish, Mrs. Lois Ide (Treasurer).

Your Social Security

An unmarried child of a Social Security-insured person who becomes disabled, retires, or dies may be eligible for Social Security benefits. If the child is under 18, he or she would be eligible whether or not in school; if 18-19, the child must be attending a secondary school on a full-time basis. The child can be any age if he or she was severely disabled before age 22.

A "full-time student" is one who attends a high school, or elementary school and who is considered by the school to be in full-time attendance.

In addition, the student must be enrolled for at least 20 hours a week in a course of study that lasts at least 13 weeks.

Students may receive Social Security payments for all months during which they attend an approved school up to the month in which they reach age 19. In some cases, the payments may be continued after age 19 for an additional 2 months or until the school year is completed, whichever comes first.

To remain eligible for benefits, students must report any change that might affect their eligibility for monthly payments.

This includes work activity, any change in school attendance, change of address, or marriage. In addition, students are required to complete a form, near the start of the school year and again at the end, that calls for such information as school attendance and work activity. Failure to complete the form and return it to the Social Security Administration on time may lead to a termination of benefits.

We should inspect heat tapes

Homeowners and mobile home residents who rely on electric heat tapes or pipe heating cables to protect exposed water and drain pipe from freezing are being urged by government safety experts to inspect the tapes or cables now for possible fire hazards before the onset of winter.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, over 500 reported home fires are believed to have been caused by heat tapes or pipe heating cables over the last seven years. In many cases, improperly installed tapes and cables triggered the fires.

CPSC said heat tapes and cables are commonly used in crawl spaces and in the substructure of mobile homes, beach houses, mountain cabins, cottages and other part-time dwellings where exposed pipes could freeze during the winter. Some heat tapes are plugged in the year-round and are activated by a thermostat when the outdoor temperature approaches freezing.
