Teachers honored

Three foreign language teachers from the Dallas School District were among the more than 45 area foreign language teachers who attended the annual dinner meeting sponsored by the King's College department of foreign languages and literatures. Held recently at King's, the meeting featured short demonstrations of several computer software packages currently being used either for computer assisted instruction in foreign languages or for preparation of classroom materials. Shown here, from left, are Sam Argento, foreign language teacher in Dallas High School; Ellen Boyer, foreign language teacher in Dallas Junior High School; Michael Lloyd, foreign language teacher in Dallas High School; and Dr. Margaret Corgan, professor and chairperson of the foreign languages and literatures department at King's College.

Open House set

Bishop O'Reilly High School, Kingston, will host an open house for current eighth grade students and their parents so that they may examine the west-side high school as an option for next fall. In addition, current high school students who are considering transferring are welcome. The program, which is set for Sunday afternoon, Dec. 8 at 1:30 p.m. will begin in the gym, where Rev. Michael Piccola, Principal, will welcome parents and students, and introduce a slide presentation about the school. Afterwards, student guides will conduct groups of parents and students on a tour of the school, periodically stopping for demonstrations in the science labs, language center, computer lab, and weight training center. Teachers and coaches will be available to answer questions and to tell participants about academic and extra-curricular programs at the school. The afternoon will conclude with a brief social in the cafeteria for students, parents, teachers and administrators. Pictured above are some members of the committee responsible for arranging the open house. From left, seated, Leonard Lojewski, Isabel Pisaneschi, and Sister Francis de Sales, RSM. Standing, Bernard Vinovski, Bob Pavalonis and Jim Lynch. Absent members of the committee are Claire Godfrey and Sister Norita, IHM.

Queen crowned

The College Misericordia Homecoming Queen and her court were crowned during Alumni Homecoming Weekend at the Dallas campus. Maria Pallante, homecoming queen, was presented with a bouquet of roses by college President Joseph Fink. She was escorted by Michael Daley, at left. Pallante, a senior history-pre-law major, is the daughter of Francis and Shirley Pallante, of Westville, N.J. Daley, the son of Carol and Elmer Daley of Dallas, is a junior English major.

GATE OF HEAVEN SCHOOL NEWS

MICHAEL FARRIS
APRIL YATSKO

THE TWO FIRST GRADE CLASSES have been working on the computer with Mr. Abe Simon. They have been experimenting with the computer language logo constructing geometric figures and developing team problem solving skills.

THE SECOND GRADE, 201 anxiously welcomed back Mrs. ruch from her honeymoon with a large "Welcome Back" poster. They were all very happy to see her and wanted to know about her cruise. Mrs. Garvey, who substituted for Mrs. Ruch, helped entertain ideas for the poster.

MRS. RUTKOSKI'S SIXTH GRADE READING CLASS is involved in the "Book It" program sponsored by Pizza Hut. The program consists of sets of minimum monthly required reading lists. On reaching the set goal, the student is awarded with a certificate for free pizza from Pizza Hut. Students chart their achievement on progress charts. The hope of this program is to encourage reading.

MR. ABE SIMON, seventh-grade math adviser, is using LOGO on the Apple IIe to help with the understanding of geometry and task analysis and problem solving.
