Beauty Talks

☆ Did you ever notice that you automatically open your mouth as you apply mascara? It's a good idea. Opening the mouth relaxes the face and you tend to blink less.

☆ Downward strokes on the lower lashes & horizontal, back and forth strokes on the lower lashes make them seem thicker and more natural.

☆ If you lift your chin slightly as you apply mascara, you'll do the neatest, most complete job (it opens the eye up).

☆ For a divine night look, try a coat of deep sable mascara, then an application (on tips of lashes only) of a midnight blue or navy. This adds dimension, depth and glamour.
