Michael Kern is named to grid team

Michael Kern, a starter at Lycoming College's 10-1 football team this season, is on the first team of the 1985 GTE College Division Academic All America squad released recently by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) and GTE.

Kern was a District 2 All-Academic the past two seasons and a Middle Atlantic Conference All-Academic this year. He is the first Lycoming male student-athlete to make first-team Academic All-America.

The College Div. includes all NCAA Div. II and III schools and NAIA colleges and universities. Student-athletes must have at least sophomore standing and a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.2 to be nominated for GTE Academic All-America teams. The teams are selected in voting by the 1,337 members of CoSIDA.

Kern, a 6-3, 241 pound defensive tackle, had 56 tackles and three quarterback sacks this year as Lycoming won the MAC title with a 9-0 mark and compiled its first-ever perfect regular season, 10-0.

The Warriors advanced to their first NCAA Div. III playoff, but lost at Gettysburg, 14-10 in the opening round.

Kern, a double major in business administration and economics, has been on the Dean's List the past five semesters.

The graduate of Dallas High also has three letters in track and was fifth in the shot put at the 1985 MAC meet.

Kern is the son of Raymond and Ellen Kern of Mill St., in Dallas.

Anglers get early bonus

Pennsylvania trout anglers will receive an early Christmas bonus from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

According to Ralph W. Abele, Executive Director of the Commission, the winter trout stocking program in lakes throughout the Commonwealth is about to begin. The Commission's "Great White Fleet" of trout stocking trucks will be bringing more than 136,000 brook and rainbow trout to 61 lakes in 43 counties of the Commonwealth.

The stocking took place in November and December, and although they were designed primarily for the benefit of ice fishermen, open water fishing is also legal.

Commission law enforcement personnel remind anglers that during the extended trout season the creel limit for trout is three per day, combined species, and the trout must be seven inches or longer.

Boating safety education pays off.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission's Boating Safety Education Program, the Commonwealth's new drunk boating law and tighter law enforcement by the Commission's waterways conservation officers, are all beginning to pay off, according to Joe Greene, a boating safety education specialist in the Commission's Bureau of Waterways.

"Not only was the number of fatal boating accidents down so far in 1985, but the number of non-fatal accidents decreased as well," said Greene.

Of the 50 reported non-fatal accidents so far in 1985, 31 were caused by collisions with boats or other objects; seven were due to fires or explosions; four were due to capsizings; three to flooding, swamping or sinking. Other accidents were attributed to grounding, falling while waterskiing, being struck by a ski rope and a boat propeller.

"The largest single reason for accidents caused by collisions is operators simply not watching where they are going," said Greene. "This is particularly true near launch ramps, marinas and other confined spaces."

Power boats 16 feet and over accounted for 39 of the non-fatal accidents, while only three were attributed to powerboats under 16 feet. Accidents involving jet ski boats increased from two in 1984 to five in 1985. Two of the accidents involved sailboats and one a canoe.

Greene cited generally favorable weather conditions during the boating season as another factor in the lower number of accidents this year.
