Barn burns

Volunteer firefighters from the J.R. Davis Fire Co. and the Lehman Volunteer Fire Company battled a blaze in a barn in Oxen owned by George Taylor. The fire, caused by a wood stove, started in a back room off the barn.

Hospital is accredited

Wilkes-Barre General Hospital has been awarded a three-year Certificate of Accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH). The accreditation is evidence of General's efforts to provide quality health care to residents of Wyoming Valley and Luzerne County.

Benefits of accreditation include the formal certification of hospital programs, facilities and patient care services by a nationally recognized review organization. Such endorsement helps hospitals qualify for professional programs, reimbursements, licensure requirements and other certification for programs, staff and services.

JCAH accreditation is a voluntary process that allows facilities to demonstrate their accountability and commitment to excellence in the provision of health care services. To become accredited, Wilkes-Barre General Hospital voluntarily requested an on-site evaluation by surveyors who applied national standards of health care delivery. JCAH is a private, not-for-profit organization whose surveyors and board of commissioners are health care professionals appointed by the American College of Surgeons, American College of Physicians, American Dental Association, American Hospital Association and American Medical Association.

Bill introduced

The state lottery's use of foreign-made hand calculators and coffee mugs as prizes has prompted the prime sponsor of legislation requiring the use of domestic products to step up his lobbying efforts for passage of the bill.

State Rep. Stanley J. Jarolin, D-Luzerne, said he introduced the measure (H.B. 775) last spring, but it has been stalled in the House State Government Committee.

"I intend to work House Bill 775 out of committee and out to the full House for a vote as soon as possible," added Jarolin. "I want it to be against the law for any state agency to use any foreign products, period. If it can't be gotten in Pennsylvania or the United States, it shouldn't be gotten at all."
