Teachers honored

Outstanding

Weis distributes bonus checks

Sigfried Weis, President of Weis Markets, Inc., Sunbury, announced that Christmas Profit Sharing Bonus checks totaling over $1,026,000 have been distributed to more than 7200 employees. This is the 40th consecutive year that Weis Markets shared a portion of its profits with its employees.

Weis Markets has marked another great year of growth in 1985. We have continued our expansion through the opening of two new stores located in Germantown, MD and Laurel, MD; one new Amity House Restaurant in State College, PA and purchased two additional existing markets in Lock Haven, PA and Lebanon, PA. Seven of our existing markets have been enlarged and modernized. A 280,000 square foot addition to the Milton warehouse has been completed and is in full operation as well as an addition to Weis Food Service, Northumberland, PA.

In 1986, Weis will be opening several new stores and remodeling many existing markets. A new Scranton Weis Food Service warehouse will also be completed.

Currently Weis Markets operates 123 stores in Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and West Virginia.

Best teachers

and campus ministry made plans for their trip.

Pallante and the girls do not approve of violence. They do not take sides with either the Sandinistas, in control of the government, or the Contra rebels, supported by United States funds. It is this financial support by the United States which is opposed by the student groups.

According to Pallante, the movement does not oppose United States foreign policy in the Central America region. They believe, however, that the students have the right to voice their opposition to foreign aid for selfish countries. They are opposed to Contra aid because they believe the aid is for selfish purposes and only for interests of the United States.

The American students will spend most of their time in Nicaragua with University of Managua students and Sandinista government officials.

Miss Naughton and five other students in the group speak Spanish fluently and this is considered a major asset for the group in speaking with the officials of the Sandinista government.

If Miss Naughton has the opportunity to speak with Nicaraguan president Daniel Ortega, she said she would probably ask him about the issue of human rights. She said that she does not believe the United States policy in Nicaragua is what it should be but neither does she believe that the Sandinistas are doing all that they should be doing.

Naughton also said that she would ask Ortega where the proposed constitution on human rights he had discussed with Atty. Joseph Cosgrove of Pittston now stands and whether it will be a just constitution for all people.

The 20 students chosen for the upcoming trip to Nicaragua were selected on the basis of achievement, scholarship, student government and campus ministry participation and formed into a network of opposing government by military.

Upon returning to the United States, the students will take part in press work, public education and political action. They will facilitate the flow of information about the effects of U.S. Policy on Nicaragua.
