INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM is a harsh fact of life and death. Americans have not been immune to its death-dealing violence. Whether it has involved hostages in Lebanon, airline or ship hijackings, or indiscriminate bombings, U.S. citizens have been the target of an increasing number of terrorist actions - but so far almost all of the violence has taken place outside the confines of the continental United States.

To address this timely topic, Luzerne County Community College will sponsor a teleconference entitled "International Terrorism: Is the U.S. Next?" on Wednesday, Feb. 12, at 6 p.m., at the college's Educational Conference Center.

The National University Teleconference Network is sponsoring the program and it will originate from the Oklahoma State University. The community college's Educational Conference Center is fully equipped with a satellite receiving dish and large screen projection television upon which the teleconference can be viewed.

The teleconference is open to the public at no charge. For further information on the program contact Fred Walters at LCCC 829-7424.

ON THURSDAY, FEB. 13, Bishop O'Reilly High School, Kingston, will conduct standardized testing for its students. Under the auspices of the Guidance Office, students will be administered tests which will end at mid-day, at which point there will be an early dismissal. Lunch will not be served to students on that day.

Freshmen and sophomore students will take the National Educational Development Test (NEDT). This testing program helps educators, parents and students plan together for the educational and vocational future of students.

Junior and seniors will take the Army Standard Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB). This test, a service rendered by the Armed Services, will give students information concerning their aptitudes for certain job areas.

For further information, contact Sister Francis de Sales, RSM, Director of Guidance.

"FACES AT THE CROSS" will be the theme for the Lenten Series of the Sweet Valley Ecumenical Cluster which will begin at the Maple Grove United Methodist Church with Rev. Michael Shambora serving as guest speaker.
