Nickle-pickin'

It was nickle-pickin' day at the Dallas Township Elementary School the other day as the children reached deep into a barrel full of nickles. The idea was the students were allowed

APRIL YATSKO

DURING CATHOLIC SCHOOLS WEEK, the children released many colorful tagged balloons from the schoolyard. Several replies have been received most of them from New Jersey. Recently a second grade teacher in Milltown, N.J. found the balloon released by Christopher Joseph of 3-204. In reply, Mrs. Gray's third graders are writing letters to that teacher's class. They hope to establish a pen-pal relationship with the Milltown second graders.

students have been writing short stories using Indian symbols. The class decided that the following children wrote the best stories: first place-Kristin Cashore, Lynn Hill and Shannon Stair; second place-Gina Storz; third place-Tara Harteis, Corin Schall and Danielle Freeman.
