Historical Society will conduct school tours

The Wyoming Historical and Geological Society is once again conducting spring school tours at the museum, 69 South Franklin Street, Wilkes-Barre, through June 6.

The tours will be given on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The first hour will be spent touring the museum's three exhibits on coal, geology and Indians and clothing. During the second hour the students will have an opportunity to participate in a hands-on learning session where they will examine different artifacts in an educational kit. Teachers and students may choose between "Pioneer Life" or "How the Indians Lived."

"Fashions From the Past: A Sampling of Clothing Since 1850," the latest exhibit in the museum, gives you the chance to take a close look at the different styles of clothing worn during the last 135 years. Featured in the show are men's, women's, and children's garments, as well as accessories, uniforms, and machinery related to clothing. All of these artifacts are from the Society's collection and many are being exhibited for the first time.

Along with the graphics, labels and photographs, these artifacts help to demonstrate the popular fashions worn in the Wyoming Valley since 1850.

The month of May will feature "After the Revolution: Everyday Life in America, 1780-1800," a Smithsonian Traveling Exhibit made possible through a grant from the Edith Reynolds Trust. This exhibition focuses on ordinary men and women and everyday events, in the daily lives of the first generation to live in a new nation - the United States of America.

Communities and families are examined in five regions of the early American Republic: New England, the Middle-Atlantic States, the Chesapeake, the Carolinas, the Frontier. The exhibition explores the work and play, the habits and customs, and the debates and conflicts that gave meaning to the lives of Americans after the Revolution.

There is a cost of 25 cents for each student payable the day of the tour. Please call the Society office at 823-6244 Tuesday through Friday between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. for reservations.

Play scheduled

"Did you speak?" asks a surprised Dorothy of the Scarecrow in a scene from "The Wizard of Oz." Misericordia students performing this children's musical include Greg Lapatofsky as the Scarecrow and Lisa O'Mara. The classic children's story as dramatized by Adele Thane will be presented by the Misericordia Players on the weekends of April 18-20 and April 25-27 in Walsh Auditorium on the Dallas Campus. Under the direction of Walter "Rusty" Andersen, the musical production will feature the familiar lovable and laughable characters such as the Cowardly Lion, Tin Man, Scarecrow, Munchkins, Toto the dog, the wicked Witch of the West and Glinda the Good, among others. It was 20 years ago that the magical world of "The Wizard of Oz" was first created at Misericordia. In 1966 College Misericordia was a women's college and director Andersen had to use an all female cast. The clever use of make-up and costumes hid the fact that the male characters in the play were really played by young women. Anyone who has a child or who is a child at heart can make reservations to visit the wonderful world of Oz by calling 675-2181, ext. 214, or 675-0828. Tickets are $2.00 for children and $3.00 for adults.
