Shavertown woman accepts CEG position

The college student's dream of turning a student internship into a paying job came true recently for Penn State Wilkes-Barre graduate Carol J. Wallace, of Shavertown. Carol has accepted a position in the offices of the Committee on Economic Growth in Wilkes-Barre. The job offer came after she completed a four month internship with the organization. The trip from student to employee began when the C.E.G. called the campus looking for a student with computer experience, according to Michael Elias, the University's Management Information System and computer instructor. Elias, immediately recommended Carol for the internship position, and the rest, as they say, is history. Carol, 19, is the daughter of Frank and Jane Wallace, 43 Manor Drive, Shavertown, and is a 1984 honors graduate of Dallas High School. She entered the Penn State Wilkes-Barre two-year Business Administration program in the Fall of 1985. A member of the Business Club and Honor Society, in May, she was honored as the banner carrier for the Business Administration program at campus graduation ceremonies.

Gordon Davies, of Dallas, is a recipient of an award from Rochester (N.Y.) Institute of Technology's (RIT's) Carl and Dorothy Bennett Scholarship Fund. Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley S. Davies, RD 4, Dallas, is a fourth-year engineering technology student in RIT's College of Applied Science and Technology. His hobbies center on his intense interest in mechanics and electronics but he has found time to be involved in the High School Ambassador Program. Organized by RIT's Office of Special Services, the program arranges for RIT students to work with high school students in the Rochester, N.Y. area, making them aware of the importance of mathematics and the requirements of college-level mathematics courses. The Bennett Scholarship was established this year by Carl and Dorothy Bennett, parents of an RIT student, to encourage individual potential and ability. They have given other financial support to RIT's Special Services projects. The College of Applied Science and Technology is one of RIT's nine colleges enrolling more than 15,000 full and part-time students.
