

Dallas' court damaged

BY CHARLOT M. DENMON
Staff Writer

Richard Morgan, supervisor of buildings and grounds in the Dallas School District, reported to the board of directors that approximately one third of the senior high basketball court is warped from moisture coming from an unknown source. Morgan said it is thought to be from cracks in the concrete underneath the floor but the problem will be investigated and evaluated by experts.

Termites have also been found in the high school library and have eaten a small portion of the closet and a few books and magazines. An exterminator will be called in to rid the building of the termites, according to Wycallis. A bid was received from Ehrlich Exterminators but no contract was awarded at Monday's meeting of the school board.

A seven week course for Chapter I parents will begin Thursday, March 17, in the administration building meeting room from 7 to 9 p.m. Dr. Rhoda Tillman will teach the class on effective parenting, which was well received last year by the parents. Fred Templin, supervisor of curriculum and instruction reported that LIU awarded a $4,000 grant to the district for the program.

The position of executive secretary, which will be left vacant by the retirement of Mrs. Betty Gensel in July, will be assumed by Mrs. Carol Pierson of Old Lake Road, College Manor, Dallas, at an annual salary of $16,500 beginning with her appointment as of March 28 and continuing throughout the 1988-1989 year. Mrs. Pierson is presently employed in a legal firm.

Head football coach Ted Jackson was appointed senior high weight-lifting coach for the school term at a salary of $702. Bryan Montross of Dallas was named as a part time temporary professional employee at the rate of $12 per hour. He will teach life chemistry at the senior high and was also appointed assistant junior high basketball coach.

Director Ellen Nagy expressed her dissatisfaction with the decrease in SAT scores among the students. She said that she understands that a large number of students are taking the test but that many of these students come from homes where great value is placed on education but only two students scored 600 or more in the verbal part of the test and only 12 students scoring above 600 in the math.

Parents of a boy who was in a fight in the senior high school parking lot recently attended the meeting and expressed the hope that the manner in the way these things are handled would be changed by the school board. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rosencrans, who addressed the directors about the situation were invited by President Tom Landon to attend an executive session of the board following the meeting.

State Police and also the Commander of District 12. The Post was named for Lloyd Daddow of Dallas and Gomer Isaac of Kunkle. The two men died of flu at Camp Lee, VA in World War I. The Post at that time consisted of approximately 17 World War I veterans, whose records were destroyed in the 1954 Post Home fire. Arthur Brown, a local hardware store owner, was first commander.

Two charter members or early members are still living, Clyde Veitch, local carpenter and Thomas G. Reese, former coalman and father of Thomas E. Reese, Dallas Borough tax collector. Two other World War members are Sheldon Drake and Oscar Dymond.

Post 672 had its first meetings upstairs in Art Brown's hardware store. Its first permanent meeting place was the observation post in Rice Cemetery, Huntsville Road. The observation post was erected to spot aircraft during World War II. It was also used in later years as the polling place for the South District of Dallas Borough.

The Post then purchased the Wallo building on Huntsville

Road, Dallas. A Home Association was organized and a business-ment was established for the use of the members. In 1954, the building was totally destroyed by fire.

Meetings were held in the borough building and after much searching for a new location, a building was constructed by Joe Wallo, local contractor, and his son, William, on the property at the intersection of W. Center Hill Road and Memorial Highway, Dallas. It was dedicated in 1955.

Today, the Daddow-Isaac Post 672 has 500 members consisting of World War I, World War II, Korean and Viet Nam veterans. Merchant Marine veterans of World War II have just been made eligible for membership in the Legion. United States Congress sets the dates as to membership.

1,306 BOXES!

The L.I.F.E. Association at the State Correctional Institution at Dallas broke last year's record by selling 1,306 boxes of Girl Scout Cookies in the prison's 1988 campaign sale. The $319.30 profit from the sale will go to Girl Scout Troop 642 to be used for troop projects and trips. Pictured from left: Ellie K. ## L-L AIDS textbooks come under fire

BY CHARLOT M. DENMON
Staff Writer

A motion to approve seven new textbooks for the 1988-1989 school year brought objections from two members of Lake-Lehman School Board at the regular meeting last week.

The motion to approve the seven books passed by a 7-2 vote with directors Bing Wolfe and Robert Emery disagreeing with the book 'AIDS' WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW,' for fifth and sixth grade students. Both members said they thought some of the material in the book was inappropriate for fifth and sixth grade students.

Emery said he did not disagree with the board's AIDS education program, which is mandated by the state, and passed in October, 1986, but that he did disagree with some of the information in the textbook, which deals with sexual transmission of AIDS. He said he believed some of the material is too explicit for 10 and 11-year-old students.

Wolfe said he could not vote for a text book that he would not want his own children to read.

Elizabeth Sichler, board member, said she reviewed the text book and would not object to her fifth grade daughter studying the book in class.

Charles Borchetta, school superintendent, explained that the text books were reviewed by a committee of teachers, parents and administrators, who thought the material was appropriate for the age and grade levels.

Borchetta also said that the education program is a good one and that board members and parents must have faith in the teachers, who are very capable.

The superintendent also explained that any parent who is uncomfortable with the material can have his child withdraw from the class.

The summer migrant education program was given approval to use the Ross Elementary School during the month of August.

The Junior High wrestling team was congratulated for winning the Wyoming Valley Conference West Division PIAA District II Wrestling Tournament Champions.

Erin G. Brady, Megan L. Kozemchak and Heather L. Taylor were commended for being elected to participate in the Junior Leadership Program Class of 1988. Christopher Scharff, senior, was congratulated for being selected as a member of the All-Area Soccer Team by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America-Mid Atlantic Region.

The board also congratulated Peter Malak, fifth grade student at Lehman-Jackson Elementary School, who recently competed in an essay contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Federated Women's Club. Peter's essay won first place in fifth grade competition in the school and also at the county level. His essay will now enter state competition.

Bradley Boston, 1st grade student in Lake-Noxen Elementary, was congratulated for his essay which won the same honors at the first grade level.

Congratulations were also extended to all Regional Chorus winners, swim competitor winner, basketball player, Carlton Houck for attaining his 1,000 career points, and the 22 Industrial Art students who took part in regional competition sponsored by the American Industrial Arts Students Association, Feb. 25, at Williamsport High School.

Next regular meeting of the board will be Tuesday, April 12 at 8 p.m., at Lake-Noxen Elementary School.

Board holds back windmill

BY CHARLOT M. DENMON

John Brdaric's request for permission to build a 150-foot windmill on property owned by him on Bunker Hill was delayed until the Kingston Township supervisors have time to discuss the zoning and planning regulations with the planning commission's solicitor Jerry Cohen. Brdaric said he wanted to build the windmill to use it to generate power.

Vanguard Cellular Systems, 'Cellular One', requested permission to build a transmitter tower on property owned by Bernard Novicki, who would receive rent from the company for the use of his land.

Several residents living near Novicki protested the building of the tower because of their concerns that other towers in the vicinity might have to be taken down if Novicki's request was refused.

The board gave final approval for the purchase of a 1988 GMC 3500 Series Pick-up at a price of $18,156.31 from Isaacs GMC.

Geralyn Williams was honored as the Dallas Area winner of the Daughters of American Revolution Good Citizens Contest. Miss Williams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Williams of Shavertown.

Supervisors also announced the streets and roads where work would be done by township forces during 1988 as well as the pothole repairs to be done on Hilltop Drive in answer to a resident's complaint.

Franklin Township requested the use of Kingston Township's municipal radio frequency for their road department calls which Kingston Township approved.
