are negatively effected from the restricted access to their businesses caused by construction barriers and blocked entrances.

"Because of this construction I am only making ends meet, business is down by 40 percent," said Tom Daniels owner of Siani Cleaners.

Daniels actually shut down for a few days because access to his business was almost completely restricted from the highway. A trench was dug in front of his store, and at times the entrance to his driveway was completely cut off from the highway.

"The PennDOT officials couldn't care less. They claimed they couldn't do anything in the face of progress. One inspector said if I didn't like the situation I should take them to court," claimed Daniels.

American Asphalt, the contractor assigned to the project, could not be reached for comment on the claims.

PennDOT officials also told Daniels he couldn't receive financial compensation for the loss of his business due to the construction. Daniels hopes that business will be back to normal after the work is completed.

Mr. William Dubuo owner of Bill's Diner is another merchant whose business has been effected by the construction, and he is not happy with PennDOT.

"My business has gone down by about 50 percent since the construction started. I understand that PennDOT has a job to do but I would like to know what kind of schedule they are on," said Dubuo.

He isn't happy with the delays in construction or the fact that the work has made access to his business more difficult but Dubuo admits, "Once the construction is completed, I think the Dallas Memorial Highway will be one of the nicest in Northeastern Pennsylvania".

Police news

Search goes on for prison escapee

Dallas Township: Dallas Township Police Chief Carl Miers reported that the search for an inmate from Luzerne County Correctional Facility, who escaped last Friday afternoon, is continuing in the Lake Catalpa area of Dallas Township.

David Molecavage, who was sentenced to prison for making unsworn falsifications to police, would have been eligible for parole the end of this month. Prison officials believed Molecavage would head for his home in Kunkle and alerted Back Mountain police to watch for him.

Molecavage did go to his home and his mother called police to say that her son was there. Molecavage then took off.

The area search is being conducted by Luzerne County Prison officials and the Luzerne County Sheriff's Department assisted by Dallas Township police.

Kingston Township: Kingston Township Chief of Police Paul Sabol and Sgt. Gary Beisel were summoned to Frances Slumoc Park, Sunday, July 31, on a suicide attempt.

They found the victim, a woman, had taken a overdose of pills and was lying on the seat of a car. The woman was still breathing and was taken by Kingston Township ambulance to Nesbitt Memorial Hospital where she was treated and admitted for observation.

The doctor the woman was responding to treatment. The woman was quoted as saying she was tired of living.

Kingston Township police investigated an attempted burglary at 358 South Memorial Highway, Trucksville, Saturday, July 30. They were called to the scene by George Kempinski, tenant in the building owned by Ruth K. Smith Real Estate, where they discovered a rear door window had been smashed by what appeared to have been a blunt instrument.

Patrolman Robert Parrish was dispatched via radio to the above address, where the tenant explained that when he and his roommate pulled into the driveway, they had observed an unknown person standing in the lot next to their residence.

When Kempinski went to unlock the door he and his companion saw that the window had been smashed and the door was open. They turned to look for the suspect in the next lot, but he fled on foot up the bank.

Accompanied by Patrolman Parrish, Kempinski searched his home but found nothing missing. Patrolman Parrish is the investigating officer.

Jonathon Balester, 137 Lehigh Street, Shavertown, reported July 29 that sometime last Monday or Tuesday, someone apparently used a credit card to get in his front door.

Balester said the front screen door was pried open and Balester said he believed that a credit card was used to open the front door of his home. Balester said approximately $150 in cash was missing. No other damage was found. Patrolman Walter Davis is the investigating officer.

Please pardon our remodeling

You'll notice some different type styles and layout in this week's issue of The Dallas Post. That's because we are in the process of installing new typesetting equipment. This is necessary because under local ownership, The Post must provide finished pages to its printer. Previously, The Post was produced entirely at the facilities of the Press-Enterprise in Bloomsburg, its former owner.

While the transition will be painful at times, in the end we will be able to give readers a more timely and attractive newspaper. Once we are fully installed, advertising and news deadlines can be shortened and the employees of The Post will have full control of its layout.

Technology buffs will want to know that our new system is based on Apple Macintosh computers and an Apple Laser Writer II NT printer. It will allow us to produce completed advertisements as well as finished pages to be sent to a printer. Anyone who is interested is welcome to visit our office in the 309-415 Plaza to inspect the system.
