Dallas Borough

A three car crash occurred at the intersection of Route 415 and Center Hill Road, Dallas, August 2.

Leonard Chesterfield, North Canton, Ohio, said he was driving his 1986 Ford north on Route 415 in the area of Picketts Charge Restaurant, when Lois Jane Townsend, RD 3, Dallas, driving a 1986 Chevrolet heading west on Center Hill Road pulled out on the highway in the path of Chesterfield's vehicle.

Chesterfield said he applied the brakes and swerved but it was no use as his vehicle struck Townsend's vehicle in the rear of the passenger side. The impact caused the Townsend vehicle to strike a 1988 Oldsmobile Delta 98, driven by Rita Marie Brody, Sweet Valley, which was waiting to pull out onto the highway from East Center Hill Road.

Townsend said she was driving west on Center Hill Road and came to a stop at the intersection of Center Hill Road and Route 415. She said she looked for oncoming traffic but that her vision was blocked by a large piece of shrubbery growing on the Dallas American Legion property. Thinking the highway was clear she pulled into the path of the oncoming vehicle which struck her vehicle and forced her into the vehicle owned by Brody.

David Townsend, passenger in the Townsend vehicle was taken for medical treatment in a private vehicle.

Patrolman J. J. Martin completed the investigation. There were no charges pressed.

The doctor came to the police station where he verified he did not write the prescription, that it was forged. The prescriptions were for Vicodin and Xanax. The girl was taken into custody.

Penn State accepts bids for building

Penn State Board of Trustees approved final plans and authorized the University to accept bids and award contracts for construction of the new Bell of Pennsylvania Building at the Wilkes-Barre Campus.

The approximately 30,000-square-foot building, designed by Pyros & Sanderson, Architects, will be used as a science technology center. It will contain a teleconference room, faculty offices, general classrooms and special classrooms for electrical engineering.

The building is also planned to include a digital microprocessing computer lab, a biomedical transmitter lab, a robotics lab and several labs for telecommunications technology and electrical, surveying, civil and mechanical engineering courses.

Recycle

"We thought it would be a good idea to get a head start on our own recycling program before the state law is implemented. This will give us a chance to work out the bugs in the recycling program, as well as save some space in our landfill," said Dallas Township Supervisor Phil Walters.

Kingston Township Manager Fred Potzer said that Kingston Township has not yet formulated plans for a recycling effort.

"I have discussed it with the supervisors and they are waiting to see how the program could be marketed. We are afraid of having a program that costs rather than saves money and ends having to be subsidized," said Potzer.

Potzer said that the state law sets up a need for recyclable goods by requiring their use by state agencies, but currently the supply of garbage far outweighs the demand for products made out of recyclable materials. Potzer commented that if consumers are conscious of using recyclable materials it could help create the demand needed to make implementation of the law successful.

"I think it would be a good idea to have a central disposal station in the Back Mountain which each locality could take turns dumping. Getting as many communities together as possible in a regional recycling effort would help both in educating the public and ensuring success of future programs," said Potzer.

Lehman Township Supervisor

Doug Ide agrees with the idea of a regional effort between Back Mountain communities, although Lehman Township itself currently has under 5,000 citizens and may not be required to implement its own program.

The Penn State Campus in Lehman Township is developing a recycling effort which may have future applications in the community.
