Committee learns that voc-ed money is drying up

BY CHARLOT M. DENMON
Staff Writer

Dallas Vocational Advisory Committee met Friday, November 18, to discuss the progress of the district's vocational programs and the appropriation and grants available to districts for the coming school year.

Fred Templin, curriculum and instruction coordinator brought the group up to date on the grants available and explained that there would be less money available from the Federal and state government since the amount for business equipment has been cut and there will be no money available for home economics programs unless it is for a single parent program. Kenneth Kirk, who is with the State Department of Education explained that until this year, there was plenty of money in the disadvantaged category because the money was not being used until districts learned unknown costs could be included. All of the districts took advantage of this so now the money in the fund is gone.

John Chapple reported that the business department was in need of more equipment including electric typewriters as well as computers.

Mrs. Laveda Riggins of the Home Economics Department reported that programs needed to be upgraded to meet the requirements in the change of social living. "There are too few mothers at home in the kitchen preparing meals for their families," Mrs. Riggins said.

"In today's society, meals are usually eaten in front of the television, or are eaten in two, three or four shifts, depending upon working hours. Nutrition is no longer the main concern in preparation of a meal-there are more fast foods served, foods which do not contain the food elements needed," she said.

The luncheon served was prepared and served by members of the Foods class.

Want to be a star? Try out for "Lullaby"

Showcase Theatre will hold tryouts for the Don Appell comedy, "Lullaby", at its new facility located at 54 Tunkhannock Avenue in Exeter, according to President Jane Tomassetti, Trucksville.

Tryouts are set for Sunday, Nov. 27, 2-5 p.m. and Monday, Nov. 28, 7-9 p.m. Director Joseph Ristagno, West Pittston, stated the cast calls for two men and two women and encouraged area residents interested in doing arena-style acting, to make plans on attending the scheduled tryouts. Production dates will be in late January, 1989.

Ristagno commented that "Lullaby" is the story of a truck driver who runs from home at age 38, elopes to Scranton with a brassy cigarette girl whom he met and married inside of three days. Add to this a bossy mother and the results bring forth much comedy.
