Police report

DALLAS BOROUGH Family room broken into

Martin Moore, 5 Marywood Drive, Dallas, on January 16 reported to Patrolman James Drury that someone entered the family's home sometime between 2:30 p.m. and midnight and removed a Zenith VCR and other items valued at $475.

Moore told the police that about midnight his son went downstairs and discovered the lower family room in disarray and the items missing. Police are continuing investigation.

Assault claimed

Traci Ann Mazula, Country Club Road, Dallas, reported to Patrolman James Drury that on January 13, Joseph Mazula, passenger in her 1984 Chevrolet, was assaulted by an unknown individual. Ms. Mazula told police that the Mazulas were driving north on Route 309 when the driver of another car followed the Mazula vehicle and when they got near IGA, he cut the victims off and told Mr. Mazula to leave his car. When Mazula refused the suspect smashed the window on the passenger side with his fist and glass cut the victim on his head and face. The victim went to Pizza Hut and called the police. Mazula was taken to Nesbitt Hospital by Dallas ambulance. The suspect fled north on Route 309. Investigation is continuing.

Car runs off road

Dallas Police Chief John Fowler investigated an accident January 12 in which Linda Agnes King, Huntsville Road, Dallas, driving a 1988 Chevrolet said she was traveling south on Main Street, Dallas when her car started to drift off the road. Her car slid off the road, struck a telephone pole, two mail boxes and a cable TV wire. It was towed by Dallas Exxon to the Exxon garage.

2 car crash in Dallas

Dallas Borough Police Chief John Fowler reported that on January 11, J. R. Eason, Main Street, Dallas, driving a 1982 Peugeot, was backing out of his driveway when his car was struck by a car driven by William Bell, 120 Lincoln Drive, Shavertown.

Eason's car was driven from the scene. Bell's car was towed by Martin's. Both drivers were checked by ambulance personnel and both signed releases. Officer Howard Kocher was the investigating officer.

KINGSTON TOWNSHIP icy conditions cause accidents

Patrolman Walter Davis on January 12 investigated an accident on Mt. Airy Road, Shavertown, in which Judith C. Tyrrell, 124 Mt. Airy Road, driving a 1985 Dodge came over the top of a knoll on Mt. Airy Road where she saw people trying to stop her.

Tyrrell's car slid through the front yard at 90 Mt. Airy Road and struck a 1982 Plymouth owned by Debbie Phillips, 103 Mt. Airy Road, parked in the driveway.

On January 12, Patrolman Walter Davis investigated a four-car accident on Route 309, Kingston Township, involving cars driven by Walter C. Konopke, RD 1, Noxen, Barbara J. Gelnett, Tunkhannock, William Richards, RD 1, Dallas, and Milton J. Pickering, RD 5, Tunkhannock, Richards' car was towed by Schmid's tow truck.

DALLAS TOWNSHIP Car vandalized in parking lot

Michael Apaliski, RD 2, Harveys Lake, on January 13, said that he parked his car by Insalaco's Store lot at 4 p.m. At 8 p.m. while collecting carts in the lot he discovered someone had spray-painted his parked car. Patrolman John Appel is the investigating officer.

Copper tubing stolen

John Yenason reported on January 9, the theft of copper tubing from a construction site on Idlewood Drive, Haddonfield Hills, Dallas Township.

Patrolman Jeremy Torr investigated. He reported 200 feet of half inch and 200 feet of quarter inch copper tubing were missing.

Dallas Rotary donates $1000 to learning disabled program

The Dallas Rotary Club recently donated $1,000 to College Misericordia's Alternative Learners Project (ALP), the state's oldest formal program for learning disabled college students. The ALP program assists students who have difficulty using spoken or written language.

"Misericordia students who are in the ALP program attend regular college classes and receive a bachelor's degree just as anyone would," said Dr. Joseph Rogan, director of the Alternative Learners Project at Misericordia. "The difference is that these students meet regularly with Misericordia's ALP staff to learn new classroom strategies that make them more efficient learners. These strategies might include books-on-tape, tape recording procedures, note taking services, tutoring and alternative test taking procedures."

The Rotary donation will be used to buy materials for ALP students.

Art by Bernard Bruno at United Penn Bank

The Dallas branch of the United Penn Bank announces that their January Artist exhibiting works in the bank lobby is Bernard Bruno, a Junior art major at Kutztown University.
